Samuel P. Hilds

Vibrancy of student life

Outlandishness

Student activities are sometimes unorganized. The male and female spontaneously take sides against each other.

The individual male and female often organize their own activities in the absence of university accommodations.

Opportunity is just around the corner.

The serious part of college is a lonely task.

"For two years I've eaten in this cafeteria and stood in line and I hate it with a passion."

Don't you remember? They broke up about two years ago . . .

We had this wild tea with the Delts and . . .

But in Figgies window I saw the coolest culottes and there was this pink and red mohair sweater that would really look tough with it and it was on sale at . . .

Talk about getting smashed

But this party in Cleveland

And then I said . . .

100 of the hardest true-false questions I ever saw in my life so I don't know how I'm going to get a B in the course because I got a C on the first . . .

So this football player I was dating from State . . .

The bird.

Dance of the puddles.

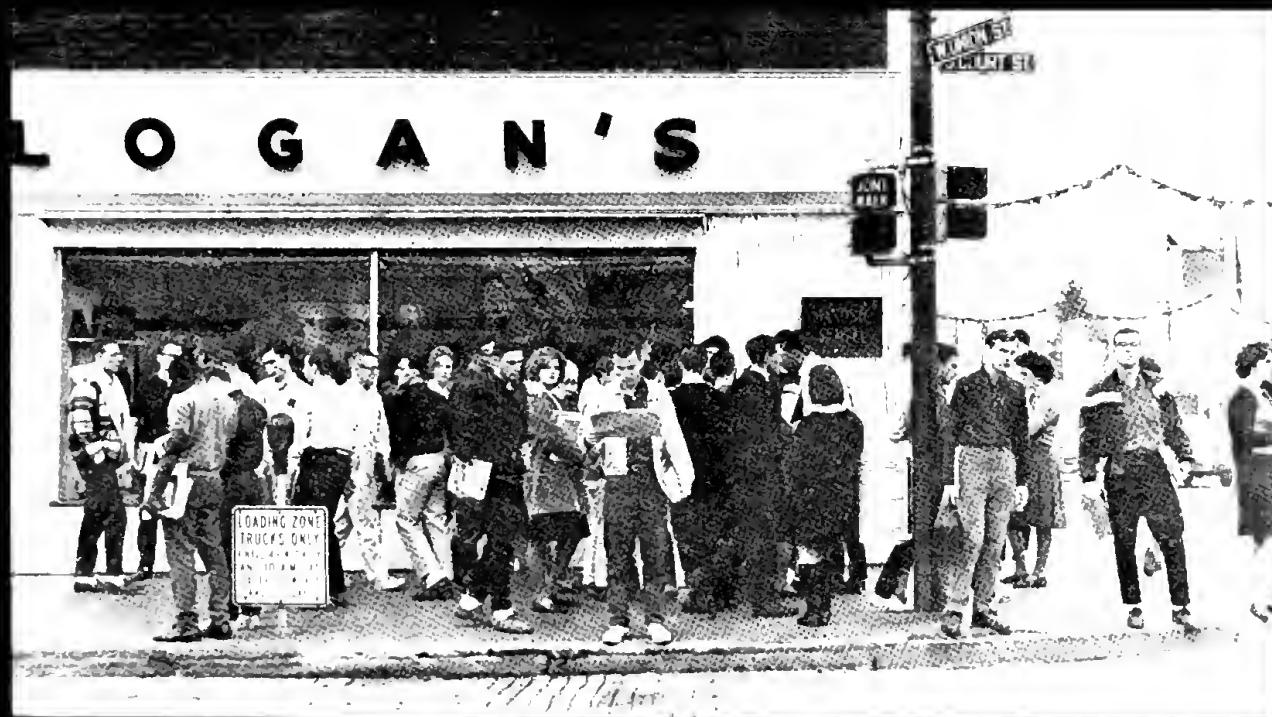

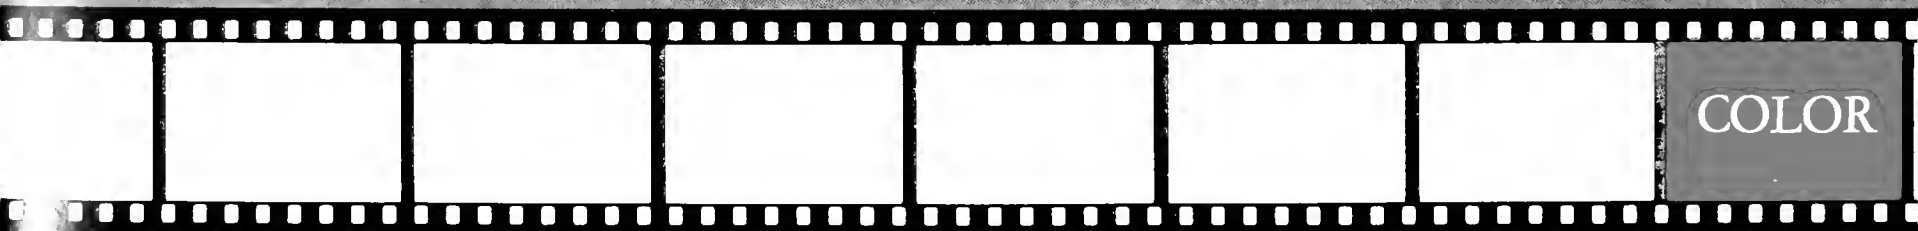

COLOR

Choose and hope they choose back.

Observing, seeking, selecting, asking.

Why don't they play more slow dances.

Time to go.

STUDENT CABINET Row 1. M. Spahr, J. Crandall, S. Barnhart, R. Eckelmeyer, Pres., S. Boord, K. Frew, B. Risk. Row 2. M. Young, J. Werther, Adviser, N. Slone, E. Morse, G. Richetto, T. Dutton, Adviser, D. Lattimer R. Stanford, A. Lepp, H. Loomis.

Chosen by popular vote in March, 16 students representing the student body of Ohio University, comprised the Student Cabinet. It is an industrious group which acts as a coordinator between student groups and the administration and also sponsors many campus events.

Through Panhellenic Council, Inter-Fraternity Council and Men's and Women's Interdormitory Councils, suggestions and complaints are brought to their attention at bi-monthly Thursday night meetings which are open to the public. Six vice presidents are elected to supervise different areas of campus life. These areas include social, campus service, organizational and political, scholastic and cultural and men's and women's judiciary and standards.

Sponsoring such annual events as the Leadership Activities Conference, Homecoming, Dad's Weekend and Migration in the fall, and Mom's Weekend, Career Days and the High School Symposium in the spring, Student Cabinet is on its toes through out the year. This year more than 6,000 students took part in the Republican Mock Political Convention which took the place of J-Prom. Student Cabinet also reclassifies student offices and operates the Men's and Women's Standards Boards.

Campus Affairs Committee

Campus Affairs Committee is the organization that serves as the executive committee for extracurricular life. It is the responsibility of this organization to make decisions concerning delegations to certain conventions and workshops, to officially recognize new student organizations and clubs and to take action in all-campus social events. CAC also determines policies for various groups. Any student may go to CAC with a grievance concerning an organization.

CAC is unique because its members consist of both student and faculty participants. It is composed of two personnel deans, two men and two women faculty members appointed by the president and the presidents of Student Cabinet, Interfraternity Council, Panhellenic Council and Men's and Women's Interdarm.

Center Program Board

Ohio University Baker Center belongs to an international organization of student centers. Baker Center provides a place for fun and relaxation, cultural events and leadership activities.

This year CPB had a wide recreational program including knitting and dancing lessons, billiards and bridge tournaments and arts and crafts. Frequently on Friday afternoons, folk-singing groups appeared in the Frontier room. CPB also sponsored Freshman Fratics and the Homecoming Dance.

Early in the spring there was a cultural arts week using as its theme music, dance and art from the 19th century.

The POST

Returning to classes in September 1963, the campus met a POST with a staff whose goal was to better feel the pulse of the growing university, accurately describe it and then analytically reflect on it.

Using a new format and manned by the largest staff of reporters in its history, the POST was able to give the university community comprehensive reports on the events which both interested and affected the campus. State Issue No. 1, the wet-dry controversy, Bobcat sports, the University's expansion and the fate of a sophomore man were a few of the subjects which dominated page 1.

The newly-created feature staff gave the campus a look, both light and serious, at the personalities who compose the university community. The POST also attempted to expand campus interest with the additions of music and drama critics.

The POST examined the problem of civil rights and consequently produced a special issue to accompany the visit of integration leader, the Rev. Fred H. Shuttlesworth.

Editorially, the POST made bold analyses of campus problems. "Locking horns" with some groups but receiving the campus's support, the POST presented the side of the issue which was usually thought and not said. Interest was the result of POST editorial thought—in the campus and in the POST itself.

Athena

A visit to the Athena Office is enough to make anyone cancel their yearbook subscription, for it is difficult to imagine that the Athena staff is capable of any kind of work. The atmosphere in the Athena Office, however, is very conducive to yearbook production, just as Steve's College Inn is appropriate for studying, for how can the Athena reflect the life of the student without a little gaiety.

A typical afternoon in the office might include a rousing game of croquet or badminton, a canoe-painting session or the construction of Mr. Potato Head. At times it's hard for the editor to find his desk under the assortment of Frontier Room troys, photo equipment, ice cream sundaes and layout sheets, but suprisingly enough he does.

Just like the YWCA, the Athena, has its parties. The Christmas festivities will long be remembered by the 1964 staff, especially since a few of the staff members risked life and limb to get a tree. The staff also celebrated the book's completion with a steak dinner.

Alpha Epsilon Rho

Alpha Epsilon Rho is a nationally affiliated broadcasting honorary recognizing professional and an academic achievement in the field of radio and television. As both a professional and an academic organization, AER membership is based upon actual participation in radio and television work at WOUB as well as high academic achievement in the area of radio and television.

The basic purpose of the organization is to promote higher standards of broadcasting among the people who will be, in a few years the professionals of the public airways.

At the annual honors and awards banquet in May, awards for outstanding work at WOUB radio and television were presented and the paid staff positions for the coming year were announced.

This year's major project, however, was "Sounds of Ohio University," a 45 rpm record recapping the highlights of the year at Ohio.

WOUB

WOUB serves the Ohio University campus as an integral part of every student's life. The station recruits its staff from the auditions of any student who is interested in its production. These students receive on-the-job training in radio work.

The diversified programming of the station provides an opportunity for an enjoyable, yet informative day's entertainment. The prompt news reporting, the special events coverage, the nightly educational programs, the interviews of known personalities, the thorough coverage of Ohio University sports and the enjoyable music, both popular and classical, gives everyone a refreshing look at the world around us.

Theta Sigma Phi

Theta Sigma Phi is the womens' professional journalistic society. To be eligible for membership, a woman must be a junior or senior with a 2.5 overall accum and a 3.0 accum in her journalism studies. Theta Sig pledges twice a year, in the fall and the spring.

This year's activities included their annual Christmas party, a luncheon with Sigma Delta Chi and series of professional meetings with speakers.

The group's main project is the publishing of the Freshman Handbook.

Sigma Delta Chi

Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society for men was founded in 1909. The Ohio University chapter was founded in 1932. It has since become one of the largest and most active chapters on any college campus.

This organization constantly endeavors to raise the standards of competence of its members, to recognize outstanding achievement by journalists, to recruit and hold able young talent for journalism and to advance the cause of freedom of information.

One of the highlights of the monthly schedule is a press conference luncheon where experts in many diverse fields speak to the members and answer any pertinent questions.

The society also organizes and distributes thousands of free desk blotters to students at the beginning of each semester.

Membership is open only to male students who have completed a minimum of three semesters and who plan to pursue a career in journalism after graduation.

Mortar Board

A Mortar Board member earns the distinction of being one of the outstanding women at Ohio University. The honorary in its stateliness recognizes those women who excel in scholarship, leadership and service. In the spring during Mothers' Weekend the outstanding women in the junior class are topped to join the membership.

An annual breakfast is held in the spring for the prominent alumnae in the Athens area. The alumnae and the members have the annual Mortar Board Book Sale which is held at the old Campus Gate.

These leaders strive to acquire a greater understanding of the responsibilities of leadership in discussions and lectures for themselves and their fellow students. The attainment of higher goals in scholarship, leadership and service is the purpose of the honorary.

Omicron Delta Kappa

This year on Mother's weekend the 40th annual Torch Sing took place. The event was sponsored by Omicron Delta Kappa, the senior men's honor society which was formerly known as Torch.

The society chooses its members from senior men outstanding in the field of campus leadership, scholarship and athletics. Tapping for recognition into the society takes place in the fall at the Varsity Show and in the spring at Torch Sing.

Chimes

Loyalty to Ohio University, service and leadership comprise the criteria the woman of the honorary organization Chimes use to select new members.

On the Thursday before Mothers' Weekend, Chimes taps its new members after hours in their individual housing units. Following the topping, they hold a surprise party for the new pledges. Sophomore women with a 3.0 accumulative average are recognized yearly when the honorary presents their Owl's Tea.

Members help with the organization of High School Ohio History Weekend, participate in various service projects for the benefit of the University such as ushering at cultural events, and conduct a doughnut sale in the women's housing units. Other social events include an annual party for past members and an informal meeting with the members of J-Club.

CHIMES Row 1, M. Eisen, K. Treanor, J. Foreman, K. Smith, Adviser, K. Kish, C. Ladd, C. Lawrence Row 2, S. Baldwin, S. Wisner, R. Fieldhouse, J. Crondall, C. Morris, N. Slone, S. Garn

J-Club

On the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month, eleven junior men are chosen to be members of J-Club. This honor society seeks its members from outstanding students in the fields of scholarship, athletics, ROTC or student government.

Among the events sponsored by J-Club are a banquet in the spring, and an award, presented to the junior man with the highest accumulative average.

Phi Eta Sigma

To promote high scholastic achievement and to stimulate academic success are the goals of Phi Eta Sigma, freshmen men's honorary society. Any male freshman, acquiring a 3.5 scholastic average in his first semester or a 3.5 accumulative average by the second semester of his freshman year, is eligible for membership in Phi Eta Sigma, since membership is solely dependent on grades.

One of Phi Eta Sigma's foremost annual events is the initiation of new freshmen members.

During the year, Phi Eta Sigma makes arrangements for lecturers to address the members in order to establish both group unity and to stimulate future academic success.

This year, as is customary and traditional, Phi Eta Sigma supervised the voting and voting procedures during Homecoming in October.

Alpha Lambda Delta

Freshmen women with outstanding academic achievement receive recognition through membership in Alpha Lambda Delta. The honorary is open to any freshman woman who received a 3.5 average for her first semester, or maintains a 3.5 accum for her first year. Stressed by the organization are the ideals of scholarship, leadership and service.

As part of their activities this year, members of Alpha Lambda Delta ushered for the various lectures and programs sponsored by the university. For a service project at Christmas time, the group made tray favors for the patients at the State Hospital.

In the spring Alpha Lambda Delta welcomed its new members. After the ceremonies they joined with Phi Eta Sigma, freshman men's honorary, for their annual banquet in the Center Ballroom.

Kappa Delta Pi

Kappa Delta Pi is Ohio University's professional education honor society whose purpose it is to encourage high professional, intellectual and personal standards and to recognize outstanding contributions to the education field.

The sophomore honor tea for all sophomores, men and women, with a 3.0 accumulative is an annual event. In the spring the organization awards the Thomas C. McCracken Kappa Delta Pi Scholarship to a senior who is planning to continue his training at the graduate level.

Candidates for membership must exhibit commendable personal qualities and worthy educational ideals. Those students preparing to teach who come under the qualifications of specific grade point averages and complete a certain number of hours in education courses are eligible for membership. Juniors and seniors with one semester at Ohio University may become candidates for membership.

Kappa Delta Pi prides itself as being an honorary professional organization with an active year's program open to all students who meet the specific qualifications regardless of race, creed or college in which they may be enrolled.

Tau Beta Sigma and Kappa Kappa Psi

Tau Beta Sigma for women and Kappa Kappa Psi for men are national honorary societies to honor outstanding band members. It promotes the existence and welfare of the University Band. Members are selected from students who have met the minimum point hour ratio requirement. Mr. Charles Minelli, director of the Ohio University Band, is the faculty advisor. The presidents of the honoraries are Jean Kuzel and Charles Yeago.

Tau Beta Pi

Tau Beta Pi, oldest honorary in the United States, is the engineering society at Ohio University. Outstanding junior and senior students are eligible for membership.

The honorary has as its purpose to confer honor upon undergraduate engineering students with high scholastic standing and exemplary character. Each year the honorary holds an interview clinic and a student evaluation of the engineering faculty. In addition, Tau Beta Pi members speak to various high schools about engineering a career.

Eta Kappa Nu

An electrical engineering honorary, Eta Kappa Nu, was founded at the University of Illinois in 1904. The Delta Epsilon chapter was founded at Ohio University in 1960.

Eligibility for membership is considered on the basis of scholarship, activities, leadership and character.

The society holds as its purpose the assisting of its members in becoming better professional men and better citizens, bringing into a closely united group those who have shown deep interest and ability in electrical engineering. The organization also strives to make its membership a constructive force, helping fellow members and non-members alike in improving the standards of the electrical engineering profession, curriculum and institutions where the chapters are established.

Alpha Phi Omega

Cultivation of leadership and friendship are the principles upon which Alpha Phi Omega, a national service fraternity was founded. The men in this group are always standing by to lend their help to the campus and community.

Their service program for this past year has included such things as a volunteer project at the State Hospital, ushering for convocations and special programs, decorating for the homecoming banquet and serving refreshments at the dance, guiding campus tours, operating campus voting booths, assisting the community chest committee and working with the campus Peace Corps representative.

Membership to Alpha Phi Omega is open to all male students on campus.

Circle K

Circle K is a national service organization which is sponsored by Kiwanis International. The purpose of the club is to perform services for the campus and community.

Projects include a Halloween party at the Athens Children's Home. The members also serve as marshals in campus voting, and each year Circle K helps with the Pancake Supper given at the Methodist Church.

Beta Alpha Psi

Beta Alpha Psi has been organized to promote interest on the part of both members and non-members in the accounting profession. Dr. Neubig is the faculty advisor for this organization.

Every year, letters are sent to notify students that they have been chosen to become members. Initiation of members take place every March in Baker Center.

In order to be eligible for membership, you must have completed four courses in accounting and have started on your fifth course. Only a student of junior or senior standing will be considered for membership.

A member's overall accumulative average must be a 2.5 or higher for his undergraduate course work. A three point average in accounting courses beyond the elementary level is a necessity for membership in Beta Alpha Psi.

Delta Sigma Pi

Delta Sigma Pi is a national organization founded to foster the study of business in universities and promote a closer affiliation between students of commerce and the commercial world.

The Alpha Omicron chapter was founded at Ohio University in December, 1925. There are semi-monthly meetings, and approximately once a month there is a special speaker from the industrial or commercial world who tells about his company. There are also several field trips, a picnic in the spring and a banquet during second semester.

The Delta Sigs also sponsor, with the economics department, a lecture series and serve as ushers.

All male students who are registered in the College of Business Administration with a 2.2 accum are eligible to join.

Scabbard and Blade

Since its establishment on Ohio University's campus in 1938, Company A of the National Honor Society of Scabbard and Blade has stressed high ideals and the development of qualities desirable in officers and leaders in the military service.

Scabbard and Blade taps outstanding Army and Air Force cadets at the annual Military Ball. Members are selected from the advanced ROTC corps on the basis of character, leadership and scholarship. At the Military Ball, co-sponsored by Scabbard and Blade, a coed is chosen honorary colonel and two coeds are chosen honorary lieutenant colonels.

Beta Gamma Sigma

Ohio's Delta chapter of Beta Gamma Sigma, the national business administration honorary fraternity, recognizes business administration juniors, seniors and graduate students who have achieved superior academic point averages.

Beta Gamma Sigma also confers membership upon outstanding professors of business administration and prominent business leaders for exceptional contributions to business education.

This year Beta Gamma Sigma will celebrate its fifty-first year as a national business administration honorary fraternity.

Angel Flight

Membership in Ohio University's Angel Flight gives coeds not only a chance to fly, but an opportunity to meet dignitaries visiting the campus.

Angel Flight was formed in 1962, assisted by the Arnold Air Society. The girls act as hostesses for university visitors and officials being met in Cleveland, Columbus and many other cities. During these trips, the "Angels" have the opportunity to demonstrate to passengers their knowledge of the aircraft in which they are flying.

The ranks of Angel Flight are filled by holding rush parties in Baker Center, followed by individual screenings. New members, called "plebes," must have a 2.3 academic average.

There are approximately 65 Angel Flight groups in the nation, five of which are on Ohio college campuses.

Arnold Air Society

These gentlemen of lofty ambition are members of the John P. Robbins Squadron of the Arnold Air Society. They are a professional honor society of Air Force cadet officers.

The society was formed at the University of Cincinnati in 1947 as a local organization with the approval of the late General H. H. "Hap" Arnold. In 1950, the society became affiliated with the Air Force Association. The local squadron chose the name John P. Robbins, because Robbins was the first Ohio University aviator killed in WW II.

The organization sponsors a Dad's Day breakfast, a dinner-dance at Lockbourne and speaker assemblies as well as a trip to the Colorado Air Force Academy. They are also annually represented at the National Convention of the society in Denver. Angel Flight, a relatively new group on campus is the female auxiliary of the society.

The John P. Robbins group is the winner of the Outstanding Squadron award for 1962-1963. The award is presented annually to a member of each area. Ohio University is the supervisory base of Area D-1, which includes six other Ohio colleges.

Army ROTC

The Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps develops officers for the United States Army through education and training of young men in their four years of college.

ROTC activities open doors to training, education and lasting friendships.

The Military Ball has become a tradition on campus. ROTC-sponsored rifle teams compete annually for Hearst trophies and other awards. ROTC participates in the Mother's Day Parade and other campus affairs.

The military fraternity of Pershing Rifles has a history as colorful as its program. The groundwork for the organization was provided in 1894 by John J. Pershing, who organized the Varsity Rifles at the University of Nebraska.

The organization is now nationwide, having a local chapter at almost every university which offers a ROTC program. The Ohio University chapter is one of the few having its own house.

One of the reasons the group is so popular is its 26 years of trophy and prize winning activities. The local program has repeatedly brought honors and distinction to Ohio.

Varied activities have given Pershing men a very well-rounded life. The chapter furnishes color guards for parades and convocations. Teas and mixers are numerous, and three dances a year are standard. They also sponsor the Military Ball.

Young Republicans

The Young Republican Club functions as an informal laboratory for political activity. Open to all students, the club experiences debates, special speakers, movies, heated discussions and local elections as part of its agenda.

The group sends delegates to state, regional and national conventions. Several of this year's members held offices in the state Young Republican College League.

Young Democrats

Ohio's Young Democratic Club attempts to illustrate the real difference between the two major political parties and to clarify the positions of the Democratic Party on major political issues.

In addition to regular meetings, the Young Democrats work as an organizational body in local, state and national elections, thus giving Ohio students an opportunity to participate in actual political campaigns.

They also contribute to the support of the American Civil Liberties Union and the NAACP.

American Institute of Physics

The purpose of the American Institute of Physics at Ohio is to further promote the interest in physics among college students. The organization is open to any student who shows an interest in this subject.

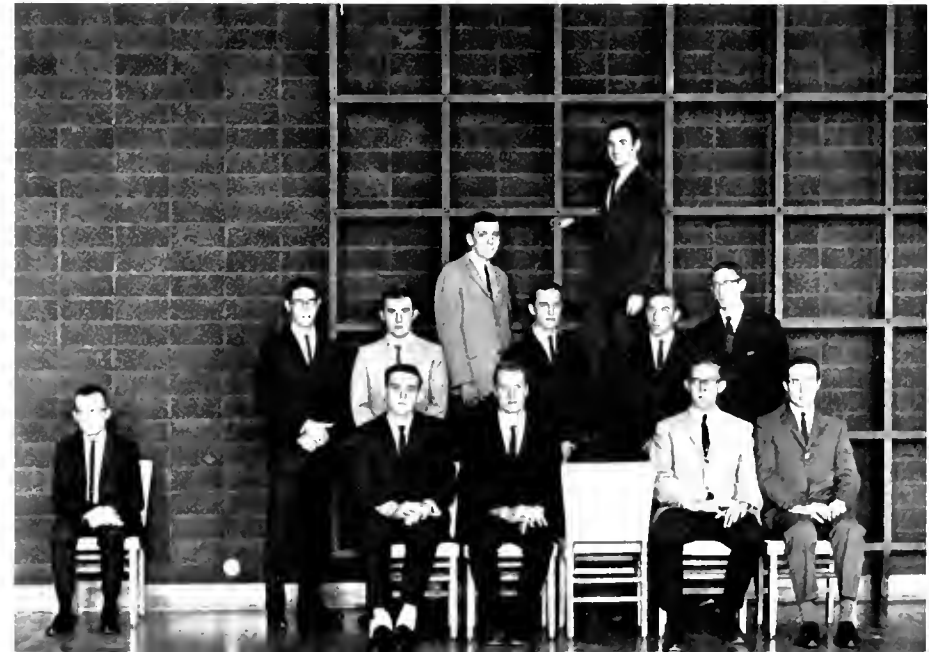

The organization endeavors to stimulate interest outside of the classroom situation by offering lectures by members of the faculty and special off-campus guests. To advance the knowledge and understanding of physics in specialized areas, field trips are taken.

The club also sponsors a departmental picnic as an annual event.

Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers

Participation in the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers is open to any electrical engineering major with a sophomore or higher standing.

The institute hopes to aid the electrical engineering student by informing him of recent developments in his field. By keeping him up to date, the organization tries to help him become a capable member of his profession. Each member of the institute remains dedicated to the advancement of the theory and practice of electrical engineering.

American Society of Mechanical Engineers

All mechanical engineers enrolled in the College of Engineering and Technology are eligible for membership in the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

ASME serves as the major coordinating agency of mechanical engineers and promotes the mutual exchange of new ideas.

In addition to this, the university chapter is dedicated to preparing each member for his profession by presenting him with an inside picture of industry. This is achieved by inviting guest speakers to the ASME meetings and by taking plant trips to various Ohio industries.

Ohio University Chemical Society

Any student of the university interested in chemistry is eligible for membership in the Ohio University Chemical Society, a student affiliate chapter of the American Chemical Society. The purposes of the society are to supplement classroom work with field trips, movies and demonstrations in current areas of research.

As both a fund raising project and a service to the campus, the chemical society sells laboratory aprons to students. As a public service, the society furnishes fire prevention material to campus organizations and housing groups.

The Society of Chemical Engineers was founded as a professional group three years ago. The purpose of the Society is to familiarize students with industry. This is done by inviting company representatives to the campus to speak on the problems of industry and to let the student know what he can expect as a chemical engineer. Supplementing these speakers are field trips taken by the students to chemical plants.

The society is presently attempting to become a student chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

Alpha Omega Upsilon

Ohio's agriculture club, Alpha Omega Upsilon, provides an opportunity for all interested students to learn more about conservation, horticulture and agriculture. The club is probably best known to Ohio students through its annual money-making project, the sale of homecoming mums.

Regular meetings provide entertainment as well as a program of guest speakers and movies to members. Many field trips were fitted into this year's schedule which included visits to the state agriculture laboratories and a semester-break stay in Cincinnati.

Home Economics Club

The Home Economics Club is open to all interested persons and is affiliated with the American Home Economics Association. The club's service projects include making bedding and infant clothing for Sheltering Arms Hospital and acting as hostess during Hospitality Day.

In addition to guest faculty speakers, the club's programs consist of foreign students giving lectures and outside speakers informing members of positions available in the home economics field.

Society for the Advancement of Management

The Society for the Advancement of Management is a unique organization which encompasses all aspects of business. Their motto "Learning by Doing" shows that they stress the participation of members.

Many programs are scheduled throughout the year. These include speakers as well as tours through various industries in the surrounding areas. An interview clinic is one of the annual events which the club sponsors. Another is a Management Conference held in the spring of the year. All students of Ohio University are eligible to become members of this notional organization.

Advertising and Marketing Club

The relatively new Advertising and Marketing Club has developed its activities program considerably during the past year. Speakers and coffee forums have been undertaken to advantage. The group has farmed Public Relations and Special Events committees to handle club affairs more efficiently. The newest undertaking is that of a paper put out by the members.

The club is represented annually at the Tri-State Advertising Conference in Columbus. Another capital city excursion this year was a trip to Lazarus where a past Advertising-Marketing president was host to the club.

Ohio Student Education Association

This fall the Ohio Student Educational Association made plans for the organization of Future Teachers of America Speaker's Bureau which would make speakers available to area FTA groups.

Open to any student majoring in elementary or secondary education, OSEA strengthens the intensions of those students planning to teach. The student members of OSEA gain by the development of leadership skills, programs at local, state and national levels and participation in professional activities at these levels.

Childhood Education Club

The Childhood Education Club is open to anyone with a sincere interest in children. Objectives of the organization are to promote desirable conditions, programs and practices in nursery and elementary school, to encourage continued professional growth of teachers and leaders in the field and to inform the public of the needs of children and how the school program must be adjusted to fit these needs.

The local club not only helps the educational needs of children, but also gives aid to the underprivileged children in the Athens area as their Thanksgiving service project.

Der Deutsche Verein

Der Deutsche Verein, the German Club, was organized to increase student knowledge of Germany, German customs and traditions and the German language. Any student or faculty member who is interested in these objectives may join, and all German students are encouraged to attend the meetings.

Activities this year included a Christmas party, several plays in the spring and lots of singing and discussion. Preceding Lent, the group had their Faschingfest, a German carnival also celebrated in that country in the spring.

Delta Sigma Theta

Delta Sigma Theta, formally known as TiDel, is the newest Greek sorority on Ohio University's campus. The group received their charter on October 5, 1963.

Some of the exciting events which took place during the school year were parties for the children of the Athens Children's Home and preparations for a speaker which was brought to the campus during the spring semester. Also during the spring semester, the girls organized a project on mental health. Special functions were arranged for both Founder's Day and May Day by the girls.

The women of IODA have been active this year in furthering their purposes of spirit, loyalty, leadership, scholarship and sisterhood.

They started off the year with a bang working on their Homecoming float "Orbeat 'em." One morning they could be seen, sleepy but happy, parading back to their dorms after their annual slumber party.

IODA women raised money selling donuts in the dorms and with the proceeds took the girls from the Athens County Children's Home to the beauty parlor for new hair-dos. They also continued their tradition of sponsoring a Children's Concert. The proceeds were turned over to the music department for a scholarship.

IODA, a women's social club under CAC, draws its membership from the independent women on campus having a 2.00 accum. The girls who join find themselves part of a warm, friendly group growing together through fun, scholarship and worthwhile projects.

Probe

About two and a half years ago, an individual wanted to start a journal of opinion on campus. He was denied this request, one of the reasons being that he was not sponsored by a campus organization with an advisory board. After a heated discussion, the Rev. Thomas Niccols of Westminster stepped in and offered to help organize such a journal.

From there, PROBE has grown to a staff of a dozen or more students now working with Mr. Dick Putney of Westminster. The circulation is 4,000, with the paper coming out monthly or every two months, depending on various circumstances.

The staff is composed of students in various fields. The topics discussed have ranged from birth control, politics and morals to the values of extracurricular activities and of testing. PROBE tries to give students and professors a "sounding board" for their ideas and problems. A magazine format is used, instead of a newspaper one, for the articles are more of a literary nature than straight news.

Footlighters

Footlighters is an honor society and special interest organization for students who show an active interest in dramatic art and have proven this interest by participation in the acting and technical aspects of university productions. Candidates for membership must fulfill standard requirements by participation onstage and backstage in theatre productions.

The productions which are applicable to fulfillment of these requirements include all major university theatre production, the annual Fine Arts Musical, student-produced one-act plays and studio productions.

In addition to backstage crew work, other non-acting areas in which Footlighters participate include publicity, house management during productions and theatre tours following productions.

The Footlighters sponsor an annual theatre open house each September at which interested theatre-goers and incoming students receive an informal introduction to the Ohio University Theatre, her faculty, staff and students.

Ohio University Band

The Ohio University Band is best known for its appearances at football games and pep rallies, but the band does not go into seclusion when football season is over. Instead, the band is divided into two groups, one used for concerts and one used for activities.

The members of the activities band keep spirits high at all the home basketball games. The concert band, consisting of a well-balanced instrumentation of selected musicians, performs before the student body and represents Ohio University on tour during semester break in February.

Many enjoyable concerts are offered throughout the year including the annual Winter Concert and the Concerts Under the Elms in the spring.

The purpose of the Ohio University Symphony Orchestra is to foster symphonic music. Anyone on campus who is able to contribute to this purpose is eligible for membership.

The orchestra has planned one full concert and a children's concert in the fall. There will be two concerto concerts, featuring University and high school soloists in the spring. A contemporary concert will also be a spring feature.

Symphony Orchestra

Men's Glee Club

Members of the Ohio University Men's Glee Club are male students, chosen through tryouts, who are in the field of music or who merely like to sing. It is entertaining and cultural, and serves as a laboratory for the vocal music majors.

The troupe this year has 38 men who sing in the campus's fall and spring concerts and appear at several pop concerts throughout the year. They perform on request at many special functions, sometimes going on tours throughout the state or appearing before alumni groups in states nearby.

Something new this year is the three-day Music Festival, where the men of Ohio's century-old glee club will sing songs along a contemporary theme.

The Women's Glee Club is an organization composed of Ohio University coeds. Membership in the organization is around 25 girls who must audition for the club. Singing in the group may be done for University credit.

The Glee Club has two aims during the year. In practicing songs, it works on vocal improvement for the entire group. In addition, each girl works on her own singing ability. The club practices classical selections twice a week during the year for their winter and spring concerts.

Women's Glee Club

University Chorus

A challenge to the student who loves music and enjoys good singing is the University Chorus. Here is an opportunity for relaxation and for the sharing of a common love and interest. This group not only includes those who have enrolled in the School of Music, but others who have foreseen the advantages offered and have auditioned.

Under the direction of Eugene Wickstrom, their voices can be heard three times a week from Memorial Auditorium. Their rehearsals are not only for themselves but for all students and faculty members. Each year they combine forces with the Women's and Men's Glee Clubs to present a concert for the public.

University Singers

The University Singers was organized to present a more varied and difficult musical program than a large chorus.

The Singers, limited to only skilled persons, holds an audition before accepting a new member.

Activities for the University Singers include a joint concert with the Chorus, performances in Cleveland and Findley, Christmas Vespers in Galbreath Chapel, a spring tour and many tapes made for the National Association of Educational Broadcasters.

Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship

Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship provides an opportunity for Protestant students to share their religious views. Inter-Varsity is the only religious group on campus entirely managed and financed by students; it is not affiliated with any particular denomination.

To promote Christian growth and leadership, the regular Tuesday meetings include panel discussions, lectures and Bible studies given by members or by guest speakers. These programs are primarily concerned with the various aspects of Christianity and with how the student can apply his faith to campus life. Everyone is welcome to attend the vesper services sponsored by Inter-Varsity each Friday evening in Galbreath Chapel.

Inter-Varsity also sponsors various social activities throughout the year. Early in the year there is a tea for freshmen. In the fall and spring the Ohio chapter joins with students from other collegiate Inter-Varsity groups for a weekend retreat. The highlight of the year is the annual banquet held at the beginning of the second semester.

Eastern Orthodox Christian Fellowship

The Eastern Orthodox Christian Fellowship is open to all Eastern Orthodox students at Ohio University.

Since there is no Orthodox Church in Athens, the fellowship provides Orthodox students with religious and social activities.

Religious activities include guest speakers from on-campus, visiting priests from Ohio and informal panel discussions to promote further knowledge of Orthodoxy and other faiths.

An annual picnic at Lake Hope, folk dancing and informal parties are sponsored social events throughout the school year.

Campus Religious Council

The Campus Religious Council is the coordinating body of its various member groups. The council is an agent of service to its member groups, to the total campus and to the Athens community. It hopes to inspire and strengthen its member groups to make religious concern unified to the campus of Ohio University.

Each student religious organization which is approved by the Campus Affairs Committee of Ohio University and recognized as the primary group from each religious organization is entitled to membership on the Campus Religious Council.

Their main program will be changed for current and future years because of the possibilities of getting well-known religious leaders at Ohio University. Up until now their program has consisted of coffee forums, speakers and discussions of current political and religious topics.

Phi Chi Delta is a Presbyterian service sorority that stands for "love and service in Christ." Its main purpose is to aid in the growth of young Christian women from whom it draws its members.

Their theme for 1963-64 is "Into All the World Together." In accordance with this theme are the Annual International Teo for foreign students held in November and an overall project of helping the foreign students to feel more at home.

Once a month Phi Chi Delta members visit an "adopted" women's ward at the Athens State Hospital. The members contribute to the Christmas Spirit by holding a party for all of the children living in Doonville. Completing the general service objective is the baby-sitting project for the Faculty Wives' Club.

A desire to help others is the guiding light of Phi Chi Delta, the only Presbyterian service sorority in the United States.

The Hillel Foundation of Ohio is an important aspect of the social, cultural and religious life of approximately 500 Jewish students.

Hillel is noted for its "open door" policy and characteristic Jewish hospitality from Biblical days. Its facilities are available to anyone at any time. Students find it a handy place to study or socialize.

Hillel also was home for a family with two children and a number of students who had to move during the flood last year.

Hillel is governed by a student council composed of elected officers and representatives from the Jewish sororities and fraternities and each dormitory. The foundation is represented on Campus Religious Council.

Every Sunday evening there is an open house with dancing and refreshments at the Foundation. The Foundation also sponsors afternoon coffee hours or "nosch" times where professors or students informally talk about items of current interest.

Religious holiday observances are an important part of Hillel's activities. Friday evening services are planned and conducted by students.

The organization publishes a weekly newsletter to keep members posted on its events and items of interest.

Newman Club

The purpose of the Newman Club is to deepen the spiritual lives and enrich the temporal lives of its members through a balanced program of religious, intellectual and social activities.

The Newman Club uses the Catholic Student Centre for its many activities, including discussion groups, folk sings, mixers, picnics and square dances. The students also take part in missions, Communion breakfasts and instruction classes. In addition to being readily available for weekend activities, the Student Center is open for studying during the week.

Membership is open to anyone who is interested in the Newman Club and its purposes, although it is composed primarily of Roman Catholic students. The local club is affiliated with the National Newman Federation, of which there are 800 member clubs.

Many students find the Newman Club rewarding because it offers them an opportunity to join others with the same interests in an informal and educational atmosphere.

Wesley Foundation

The Wesley Foundation of Ohio University goes out of its way to serve. By making the ministry of the Methodist Church available to all Ohio University students, it serves a large part of the campus population. By working together in its various service projects, it serves the needy of the community.

All Methodist preference students are automatically members of Ohio's Wesley Foundation and are urged to participate in its many functions. Throughout each week the Foundation's calendar is filled with its University Class, Wesley Forums, Mid-week Vespers, Communion Breakfasts and Wednesday afternoon "pop-ins." Each Friday evening the group gets together at the Athens Children's Home to entertain and assist the children.

Many members of Wesley Foundation look forward to the spring and fall retreats as a special time of rededication and brotherhood.

Wesley members treated their dods to a spaghetti dinner during Dod's Weekend this year as a special event.

The Wesley Choir meets weekly to prepare for its many performances. In addition to singing once a month at the First Methodist Church of Athens, it sings at other area churches.

During spring vacation, the choir tours Ohio giving concerts. Choir members travel with the help of Jezebel, the Wesley bus, enjoying the fun of song.

For Methodist men at the University, Sigma Theta Epsilon, religious fraternity, offers the opportunity to serve, to worship and to have fellowship in a Christian atmosphere.

This year the STE's painted two churches in villages near Athens as a part of their goal to promote worthwhile service projects in the community.

The men formed a basketball squad for the University intramural program. Their annual events included a hay ride, a Sweetheart Formal and a campus wide STE Cookie Sale.

Membership in this national religious fraternity is open to any man who wishes to serve God and the community.

Kappa Phi

Kappa Phi is a national service organization for Methodist preference women and part of the Wesley Foundation program. This year their theme is "... but to serve," which is presented through challenging and meaningful programs. It is hoped that this theme and the Kappa Phi slogan, "I'd love to," will be the basis of each member's life.

In an attempt to meet the needs of college women, Kappa Phi provides the opportunity for Christian women to meet and exchange, to challenge and deepen ideas about their faith. The main emphasis is to promote through service, a depth and understanding of life's problems.

Dormitories

Men's Interdormitory Council

Men's Interdormitory Council consists of the presidents of the eleven men's residence halls, two elected officers, two appointed officers and seven screened committee chairmen.

Through the combined efforts of all the residence halls, MIC strives to coordinate the activities of the men's dormitories and to provide scholastic, social and cultural programs for the men of Ohio University.

Men's Interdorm presents a traveling scholarship trophy to the dorm with the highest total grade average.

In the social aspect, MIC sponsors the Interdorm Carnival held on the East Green each fall semester.

Culturally, the series "Critical Issues and You" is presented annually. An eminent speaker discusses a topic of current importance designed to stimulate interest in pertinent topics.

Berry Hall

Unlike any other dorm on campus, Berry Hall (formerly Berry Hotel) offers private phones, carpeted hallways, individual baths and maid service.

The president elects his own cabinet, with each member receiving $90 per semester. The free extra milk available in all university cafeterias resulted from a program initiated by these men.

Social activities include mixers and frequent teas, the biggest event all year being the Halloween Party which featured a witch contest. They captured first place at the MIC Carnival with their Berry-Shively booth, making it their second year in a row to receive that honor.

If they want to relax, they just head for the "Animal Room," a kind of rumpus room in their basement. Or they may join the dorm's growing intramural program to help make Berry Hall best.

Biddle Hall

Darm enthusiasm is the goal of the men of Biddle Hall. Biddle began the fall semester by entering MIC Carnival with a booth entitled "Putt n' Dunk." Uncle Sam was the theme of Biddle's Homecoming house decoration, "I Want You." To celebrate the Christmas season, the men held a formal with Voigt Hall in the Center Ballroom.

To encourage scholarship, persons from the dean of men's office and the dean of women's office were invited to the darm to hold group discussions.

Biddle is proud of its two new scholarship trophies. One trophy is for freshman grades; the other is for upperclassman grades.

Bush Hall

Bush Hall, one of seven men's dormitories on the East Green, was named after Frederick W. Bush. Serving as a university trustee from 1922 until 1929, Mr. Bush has well earned this recognition. Bush graduated from Ohio University in 1892.

The dorm boasts the highest freshman grade average for the second semester of the 62-63 year. In addition, the athletic endeavors of the dormitory are also outstanding. They have been very successful in all intramural sports.

The purchase of a television set for the lounge was one of the major projects of the dorm this year. Donations by the members of the hall amounted to more than 75 percent of the total cost. Social events included mixers throughout the year, and lectures by members of the faculty are a part of Bush Hall's varied cultural program.

Gamertsfelder Hall

Gamertsfelder Hall, the largest dormitory on campus, has a tradition to uphold. The Gam men are known campus-wide for their exuberance in whatever they undertake. This fall they challenged the campus to a "spirit battle" at one of the football games. Gam won, hands down.

As a dorm, Gam's purpose is to provide a social and educational environment for its men. Cultural speakers, mixers, dorm activities and the Glee Club are helping to fulfill this purpose.

Last spring the Gam Glee Club won the ODK Torch Sing, while this year's Homecoming saw Gam place second in house decorations.

Annual events include the Christmas Dance and the Orchid Ball. The men also entertain guests from the Children's Home at Easter. Gam's enthusiasm makes every resident proud to be a "Gam man."

Grosvenor Hall

Grosvenor Hall, the first dormitory built on the West Green, is one of the newest and the most attractive buildings on campus. Being one of Ohio University's most spirited halls, Grosvenor participates in all the campus activities. It eagerly supports all the sports activities at the pep rallies and games. Throughout the year Grosvenor Hall provides entertainment for the students by giving all-campus dances and mixers.

The highlight of all events, however, is the traditional Grosvenor-Perkins football game. The Big Cider Jug is passed to the victor; and presently the Jug is in Grosvenor's trophy case.

Through its successful organization and development Grosvenor Hall has become the attractive "Center of the West Green."

Lincoln Hall

The unique band consisting of the spirited men of Lincoln Hall was one of the highlights of this year's Homecoming parade. The 76 men, their colonial costumes and their enthusiasm, reminded all of "The Spirit of '76."

This same enthusiasm is evident in all of Lincoln Hall's activities. In sports, they are intra-dormitory champions in softball, golf, bowling, soccer and basketball.

In their social activities, the mixers with the women's dormitories and the annual hayride provide fun for everyone.

Another aspect of their outgoing spirit is their annual Thanksgiving dinner for the children of the Athens County Home.

Parks Hall

During the spring semester of '63, the Parks men acquired the title of "refugees." Because of the flood, the members of Parks were forced to abandon their new home, and were scattered throughout the Ohio University campus.

This fall they held one of West Green's most successful mixers, honoring the anniversary of their first migration from Grover Center to their then incompleted dorm. Marlene Moore, West Green #3, was crowned Anniversary Queen. Intramural football, Dad's Weekend and participation in the MIC Carnival also highlighted Park's activities for the year.

The Parks men have truly come a long way from their first home at Grover Center and their scattered residences during the flood. It is easy to see how Parks is becoming one of the most accomplished dorms on campus.

WE SHALL RETURN!

WE believe that
PARKS is not doomed
Only cursed, hexed,
And under a temporary
50 YEAR bad luck Spell.

Perkins Hall

Carrying on one of Ohio's newest traditions, the men of Perkins Hall looked over the freshmen coeds (one of OU's oldest traditions) and selected pretty Ilana Debreceni from Shivley Hall as their Freshman Queen.

Homecoming brought its honors to Perkins when their house decoration received the third place trophy. Their big green rocking chair proclaimed, "Rock Delaware With Vigor."

The holiday season came in a rush of colored lights, snow, and Santa Claus. Perkins men had a "Christmas in Blue" at their annual formal dance.

Throughout the year the men seemed to find time for the various teas, mixers and breakfasts with sororities and women's housing units.

An added feature available to the men of Perkins was the series of lectures which were held in their lounge.

Read Hall

Last year Read Hall acquired one of its most prized possessions, the trophy for the dormitory with the highest scholastic average for the spring semester.

The men of Read participated in Homecoming activities with a house decoration entitled "Give Delaware A Depression."

In December Read Hall, together with a women's dormitory, held its annual party for the orphans of the Athens Children's Home. They presented gifts to the children and delighted them with a visit from Santa Claus.

The men of Read participated in inter-dormitory sports, and they are proud to say that they did exceptionally well in the 1963 football season.

West Green #2

West Green #2 is the newest men's residence hall on the Ohio campus. Besides having an ideal location, the dorm had many planned social, athletic and cultural events, plus the traditional enthusiasm.

For Homecoming the men of West Green #2 entered a house decoration entitled "Ring Up a Victory." On the social side, there was a Christmas formal and various mixers. The men of West Green #2 also competed in intramural sports. Cultural attractions included members from the faculty speaking on various subjects.

All these activities led West Green #2 to a memorable first year on campus.

WASH PAGOON

Washington Hall

The men of Washington Hall keep an active social calendar throughout the school term. Many of their highlights included placing second in the MIC Carnival as well as winning the intramural trophies for horseshoes, fast pitch and basketball.

"Chestnuts Roasting on an Open Fire" was the signal of the coming Christmas season and the theme of their annual formal. Also a part of the Christmas spirit was a party for the orphans of Athens.

A new scholastic and culture program brought eminent speakers to the dorm. Entertaining programs for their parents added to the memories of those two cherished weekends, "Mother's" and "Dad's." To complete a successful and happy year for the men of Washington Hall were the many mixers and theme parties held quite frequently.

Women's Interdormitory Council

WOMEN'S INTERDORMITORY COUNCIL, Row 1: M. Bauer, N. Drake, M. Cheesman, L. Gorrer, M. Dolby, President, E. Morse, J. Farling, J. Young, B. Schriener, D. Topolski. Row 2: F. Bruner, E. Meador, C. Detto, K. Richter, R. Fieldhouse, J. Rienerth, N. Harper, P. Chapman,

Dorm life is the primary concern of Women's Interdormitory Council. Members include the president, head floorchairman and one elected representative from each of the women's housing units. These representatives meet the second and fourth Monday of every month to discuss government, problems and activities.

WIC highlights the year with a training program planned to introduce floor chairmen to student government, coffee hours held early in the fall to present the Deans to freshman women and Coed Pram in the spring.

In order to stress scholarship, the council sponsors an annual "B" dinner for all dorm women with an accumulative point average of 3.0 or higher for the first semester. WIC also awards scholarship trophies to outstanding dorms and room scholarships to women students.

Baker Center

Located on top of the Ohio University campus overlooking the college green is Boker Center Dormitory. The 56 junior and senior women residents who occupy the third and fourth floors of Boker Center call their dormitory "the penthouse."

This year the combined efforts of the women created a Homecoming float which captured third place in the women's division. Their theme of "Krush 'Em" also helped to make it one of the winning floats.

The biggest social event of the year is the Christmas Formol. It, together with Christmas coroling, made the holiday season very festive around the dormitory.

Recognizing the high social and scholastic standards of Baker Center Dormitory, the women work together continually to maintain these standards in an atmosphere of friendliness and cooperation.

Boyd Hall

Boyd Hall has the distinction of being the only resident hall on campus solely for upper-class women, the purpose being to provide a program and atmosphere which promotes intellectual and social growth and to aid in the development of integrity and individual responsibility of its residents.

Each year Boyd participates in a philanthropic project and also in a project to raise money for the dorm itself.

Activities in which Boyd participates are numerous. They present stiff competition in the campus-wide events. Also on the agenda are various mixers and teas giving the girls a chance to become better acquainted with the men of Ohio University.

One of the highlights of the school year was the Christmas formal. Parties within the dorm itself help create a closely knit group of women all united in one purpose—to make their years of college memorable, not only through knowledge gained from attending class, but also through the understanding which evolves from living in close contact with other people.

Bryan Hall

A dorm with spirit, a dorm with tradition, a dorm with innovations, that's the dorm at the "top of the hill"—Bryan Hall.

The 250 women of Bryan Hall have shown much spirit in all that they do. Be it Homecoming, Siglympics, or the Bryan-Perkins "Showboat" for the MIC Carnival, you can be sure these girls will be there in full spirit.

Though young in spirit, Bryanites sport many traditions. Among these is a Rose Table, where a red rose is placed for every girl, who becomes pinned or engaged. Christmas is a time for traditions. Bryan girls celebrated it this year with an informal dance and a Christmas dinner. White Breakfast also has a special place in every Bryan woman's Christmas.

Among the new events scheduled for this year is a formal dance held in the spring. The girls' service project this year was a clothing drive at Christmas.

Johnson Hall

"Hey, look us over," is the song you will hear from these lassies. They are those Johnsanites from down over the hill. Theirs is the smallest mixed-class dorm on campus, but they still manage to squeeze in nearly 150 residents. The little brick building has housed women since the fall semester of '61.

They are remembered most this year for taking first place in the dorm division of Siglympics. The award of best-dressed caach also went to them. A Johnson girl, Barb Sylvestro, was a homecoming attendant this year.

The freshman girls are responsible for a money-raising project which is usually undertaken at the first part of the spring semester. An annual project of Johnson is a Christmas party for the Circleville Orphanage. The girls also hold their own Christmas fireside party in the lounge.

Howard Hall

Howard Hall's activity-packed year began with a very successful outside "Tavern Party" with the men of Lincoln Hall.

The usual teas, mixers and homecoming activities kept most Howardites busy until after Thanksgiving, when the dorm observed "Christmas by Candlelight." Although this season was packed with activities such as decorating the lounge, planning and attending the traditional Christmas dance and dinner and successfully surprising the freshmen girls with a party, the girls of Howard took time out to plan a party for the dorm's "adopted" children.

The "adoption" of a needy family with ten children has been a year-long project for Howard—the girls, besides giving the children a Christmas party, collected food at Thanksgiving and included the family in their plans for Easter and Little Sis's Weekend.

Second semester activities included a spring garden party, installation of new officers and, of course, Little Sis's and Mother's Weekend activities.

Lindley Hall

Upon entering their freshly painted dorm, the women of Lindley started the year off with a bang with Freshman Week, when they greeted the green-horns with "Welcome Dudes to the LL Ranch."

The academic year with its extra-curricular activities got under way, and Lindley played an active part in all of them. A "Lindley Lovely" placed second in the Perkins Freshman Queen contest and to the delight of the Lindley fathers, the dorm took first place in the Women's Interdorm Swim Meet, held during Dad's weekend.

Pep rallies, football games and Homecoming made the fall an exciting season. Then Christmas, with caroling, floor decorations, dance, dinner and White Breakfast, left happy memories in the minds of all the Lindley women. It is no wonder that they still sing: "Let's give a rousing cheer for Lindley Hall this year . . ."

Jefferson Hall

Rising above the East Green is the tower atop Jefferson Hall. This tower symbolizes the dormitory's size, unity and strength.

The spirit of the dorm's inhabitants is voiced in the words to a song: "We've got the spirit; we're mighty proud; the girls from Jefferson are cheering loud." These words symbolize the unity and friendliness to be found within the walls of Jefferson.

Jefferson Hall is noted for its modern library and lounge, its indoor parking facilities and its cafeteria, which is the largest one on the East Green.

Every year the dorm holds a party for the children of the Children's Home and a surprise Christmas party for the freshmen of the dorm. An annual Christmas Formal is also held. Jefferson joins the rest of the campus by selecting an Honorary Father and Mother on their respective campus week-ends.

Jefferson Hall is governed by a house organization composed of six main officers, appointed chairmen and fifteen floor chairmen.

This dormitory is aptly described as being "the center of the Green."

Scott Quadrangle

Residents of Scott Quad can paint out their dorm with pride. This year, they enjoyed a remodeled library, a new stereo in the lounge and the honor of having the 1963 Siglympic Queen, Mary Lee Nash, a resident of their dorm. "Fireside Talks" with members of the faculty as speakers gave the women of Scott an opportunity to meet Ohio University's administrators and instructors.

Highlighting the year's activities were teas with Phi Kappa Tau, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Parks Hall, a Christmas dance, their annual Casino Party and a Hoatennary with Gam. Those interested in the athletic aspects of college life participated in tennis and swimming matches, basketball and volleyball games and bowling tournaments.

Known for their unity, Scott women are conscientious and floors compete against each other for grades. At the end of the semester, the floor with the highest average is rewarded with a pizza party.

Sargent Hall

Surrounded by three men's dorms, Sargent Hall, the newest addition to women's housing units, is the center of attention on the West Green.

Their new patio has often been the scene for mixers, parties and dances. A spacious lounge, decorated with a flare of oriental, is one of the loveliest on campus.

Using the theme "stake your claim out West," the officers sporting denim skirts and checkered blouses ushered in the new freshmen.

Spirits high, the dorm participated in Homecoming and in the MIC Carnival with Parks.

Being the only dorm with triple bunks, it has become widely known as a "fall-out shelter," the fall-out pertaining to the numerous accidents girls had falling from the triple story beds. This has since been remedied; guard rails have reduced the epidemic of black and blues.

Shiveley Hall

There is never a dull moment for the women of Shively Hall. For the second year in a row, Shively and Berry Halls received first place for their booth at the MIC carnival in the fall.

Shively women developed spirit and enthusiasm while working together on Siglympics and Homecoming. To celebrate the Christmas season, Shively held an open house in their lounge.

For those who enjoy singing, the Shively choir participates in the campus Christmas caroling and other special events.

To add incentive for high scholarship, the floor section with the highest grades receives a scholarship plaque.

Through the many opportunities which are available, the women of Shively Hall are able to fulfill their purpose: "to provide self-government, social growth and development for its residents."

Tiffin Hall

A lounge with early-American decor and a sunny potio are only two of the items which make Tiffin Hall unique. Until early last fall, the women of Tiffin had planned to yield their year-long stronghold back to male occupants.

Instead, Tiffin became one of the three upper-class women's dormitories on Ohio's campus.

Among its activities early this fall was the selection of new officers and committees to govern the dormitory. Though busy with the organization of their new government, the women of Tiffin found time to enter the Homecoming competition for the first time this fall.

Tiffin is located on the East Green next to the largest men's dormitory on campus. Across the street is Shively, where the women of Tiffin eat.

Voigt Hall

"It can't be! It isn't!" That's what people usually say when they see Voigt Hall, and you really can't blame them. After all, a dorm that looks more like a millionaire's mansion than a residence unit is a little hard to believe.

The architecture of Voigt isn't all that is special about it, for the dormitory has a certain "versatility" for which it is noted. Voigt girls' scholarship is outstanding. Last year Voigt received the WIC Scholarship Trophies for both freshman and upperclass grades and was also awarded the President's Trophy for academic achievement.

But Voigt residents don't spend all their time studying. Homecoming found them working on their house decoration which turned the stately front of Voigt into a replica of the White House in 1812. At Easter, the girls held their annual Easter Egg Hunt and party at the children's home. Come spring, Voigt's back patio was a beehive of activity as the dorm's J-Prom skit was in the making.

It's easy to see why people say "It can be true!" about Voigt Hall. But it is true — grades, activities, friendship and fun — Voigt versatility, that is the name for it.

1964 Athens Flood

What seems now a yearly occurrence—the Hocking River flood—has again engulfed the West Green, and this year, the East Green. Students evacuated the five dormitories on the West Green and crowded into already crowded dormitories, the Center Ballroom and Washington Tower.

Footbridges were built over the flooded streets on the East Green, so students could make their classes. To complicate the students' problems, the electrical power fizzled on the East Green. Athens was isolated by the flood waters which cut off mail delivery: a serious blow to student morale.

The Hocking River finally crested at 24.46 feet. This was somewhat higher than last year. But the rains came in the middle week of tests. Classes, however, were held as usual.

Since the West Green was constructed, the Hocking River has annually washed over it and forced the evacuation of hundreds of students. The cost of the March 1963 flood exceeded a million dollars. This year's flood was higher.

The money poured down the rathole of clean-up and sandbags would have built a dike around the West Green.

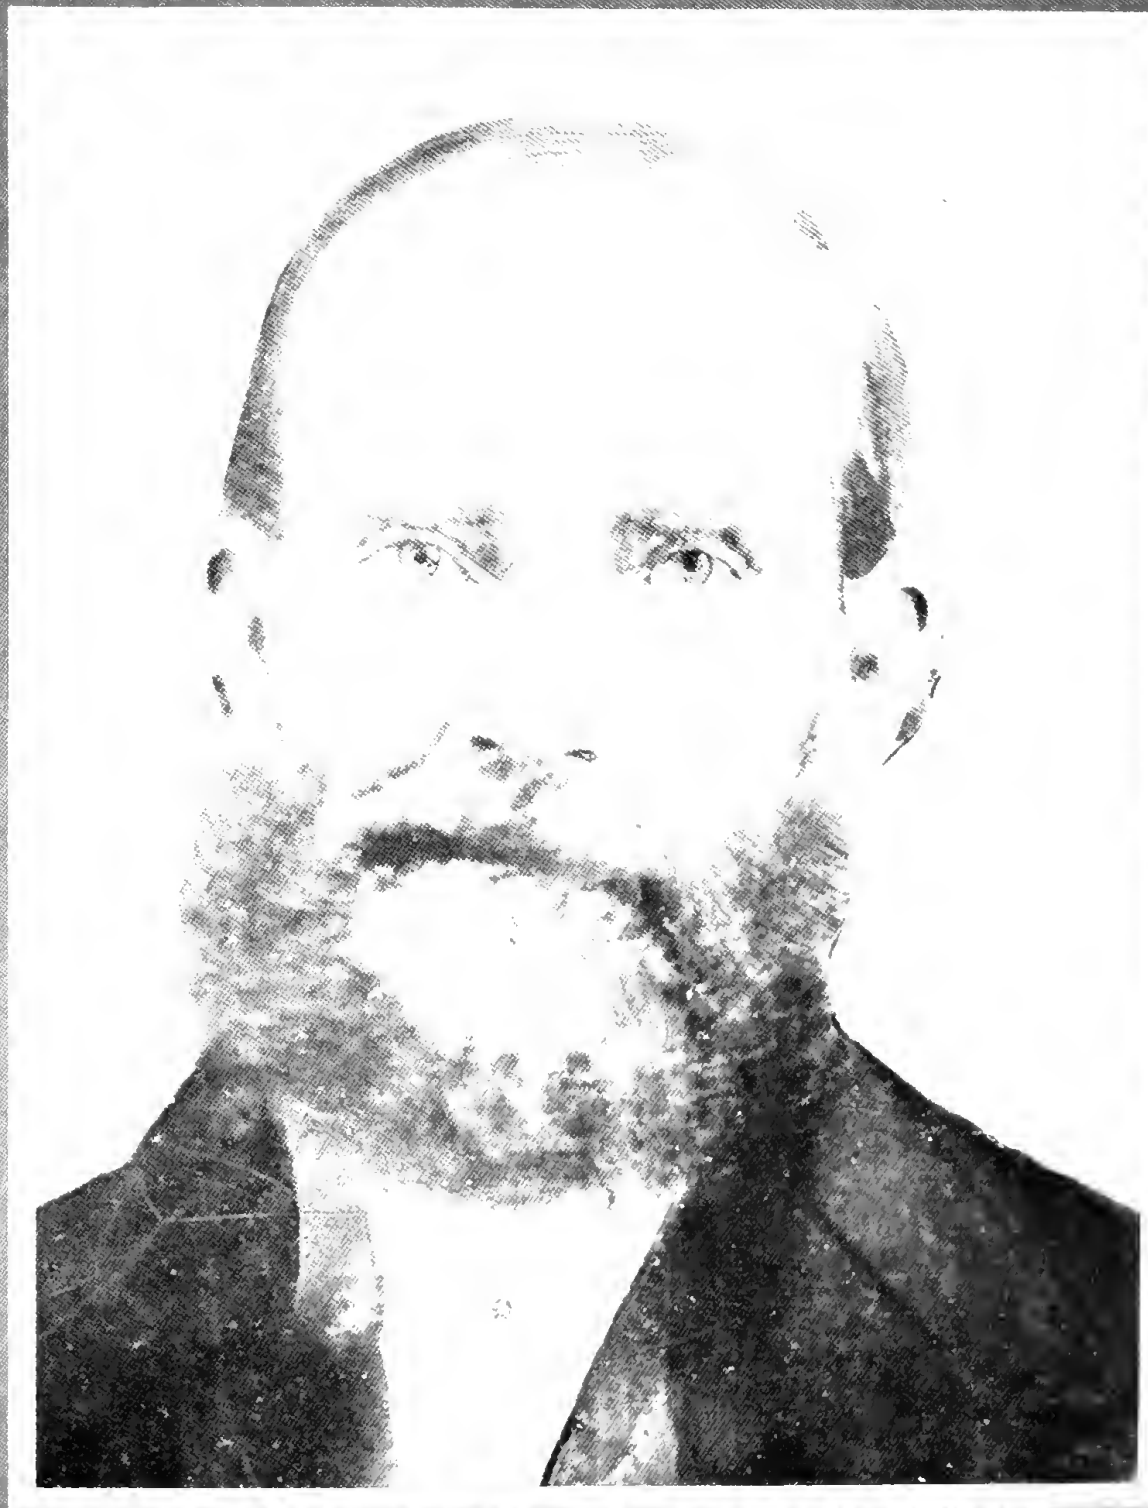

But institutions are slow to act: Athens will be a wet town for years to come.

Alpha Delta Pi began another year of fun and friendship by pledging 26 girls. In addition to the new pledges, the chapter also boasted a new house mother, Mrs. Sara Heare.

Homecoming proved to be exciting for the ADPi's as their candidate, Miss Joni Smith, was chosen 1963 Homecoming Queen. Among the activities at the Alpha Delta Pi house were the Homecoming Alumnae Luncheon, the Fathers' Weekend Banquet and the annual Christmas Party complete with Santa Claus. During the spring semester, ADPi's enjoyed the Sweetheart Formal and the Muscle Beach Party.

The year 1964 marked a special year for the chapter and alumnae as both met in celebration of their fifteenth anniversary.

Beginning their 54th year on Ohio University's campus, the AEPH's worked hard on their Homecoming float "Mannosehcre 'Um."

The pledges held a French party for the actives, and it looked as if Paris had come to Athens! In return, a tea was held for the pledges at the home of an advisor.

In October, the AEPH's celebrated their founding with a banquet at Boker Center. Awards were given to outstanding members of the chapter, and the meal was followed with a speech by Dean Work.

During the spring semester the AEPH's again sponsored a philanthropic project for the children of Beacon School.

The annual spring formal, the highlight of their social calendar, brought good times for all the girls and their dates. At this time they chose their "Lucky Guy of AEPH."

The women of Alpha Epsilon Phi encourage the scholarship and leadership of their members so that they may obtain the most from their college experiences.

The girls of University Terrace demonstrated their intense spirit this year by combining work with fun. Their homecoming float and house decorations for special week-ends proved to the whole campus the strength of their unity, spirit and sisterhood.

A unique combination of fun and social service is the Alpha Gamma Delta Sock Hop. At this event, the chapter members knit a pair of sometimes-unrecognizable orgyle socks. These are then raffled to the men who venture from all parts of the campus to buy them. The proceeds of this Sock Hop are then contributed to the Athens Children's Home.

Another traditional event in every Alpha Gam's life is the Spring Formol, at which time the Alpha Gam King is crowned. In addition to this, there is an annual Christmas party where every Alpha Gam guy receives a special favor. Complementing this are teas, brunches, parties and exchange dinners with fraternities, sororities and dorms.

The life of an Alpha Gam pledge is spiced with pranks, study tables, work on Homecoming floats and participation in Sig-lympics. She works, along with her active sisters, in both sorority and campus-wide activities.

The women of Alpha Gamma Delta combined fun, work and service to make this year one of their most successful.

Alpha Xi Delta

"May God build for you a harmony" was the thought as the Alpha Xi Delta's welcomed 31 new pledges in October. The pledge class immediately joined the actives in producing the second-place Homecoming float winner, "Ness Suspects Fault Play."

Only too quickly Dad's Weekend was reality, and the chapter planned a mock pledging ceremony to make their fathers "Honorary Fuzzies."

The annual triad Dance with Pi Beta Phi and Chi Omega provided an enchanting "Fire and Ice" fling for the group. December also brought two hectic weeks of study, caroling and Christmas. The annual tree trimming ushered in the party with Tau Kappa Epsilon for underprivileged children of Athens.

January turned all "Fuzzy" heads towards books and preparations for final exams. Following finals, thoughts turned towards sisterhood as the group accepted ten new pledges in mid-year rush.

This year as always the Chi O's worked together to share in campus scholarship, activities and fun. Homecoming was "in the bag" this year as the Chi O's placed first in float competition with the theme "O U Chicken-baggers." Also, Nancy Maidens, Chi Omega queen candidate, reigned as first attendant on the Homecoming Queen's Court.

A comba caused the rafters of the Chi O barn to shake, rattle and roll at their all-campus Barn Party. In contrast to this hoe down, the Chi O's sponsored, for the intellectually inclined, the annual Chi Omega Art Festival at which local artists displayed their paintings, jewelry and handicraft. The proceeds from the Art Festival went to a scholarship for a student majoring in fine arts.

The 1963 - 64 school year was a successful one for the girls of 20 S College Street. The KD's followed an eventful fall rush with preparations for Homecoming. The pledges received their first taste of sisterhood while working on their float "Gone With the Wind."

Another facet of sorority life was demonstrated at Christmas. The women of Kappa Delta and the men of Washington Hall joined forces to bring Christmas to children at the Athens Children's Home. Another philanthropic project is their national social service effort. Gamma Eta chapter joins its sister chapters in contributing funds to the Crippled Children's Hospital in Richmond, Va.

The KD's enjoy an active social life also. At their spring highlight, the annual Emerald Ball, the Kappa Delta Dream Man is chosen.

The women of Phi Mu enjoyed another wonderful year filled with excitement, projects and parties. Working together on the Homecoming Float increased unity between the actives and the 30 new pledges.

Tekequacodes 1963 was a day well-remembered by Phi Mu. Not only did the girls place third in the events, but they also captured the spirit trophy, for having the most enthusiasm.

At Christmas time the Phi Mu's played "Santa Claus" to several orphans at the Children's Home. Phi Mu joined the Phi Tau's in entertaining the children at the home on Valentine's Day.

Ohio Alpha Chapter of Pi Beta Phi celebrated its 75th anniversary on Ohio University's campus this year. To honor the occasion, the annual Founder's Day Banquet was held in the spring.

During the year the sorority enjoyed several social events. At the chapter Christmas party, a bus-boy dressed as Santa Claus and handed out gifts. Later in the evening, the bus-boys were pledged to the "Order of the Broken Arrow."

For a last fling before finals, the Pi Phi's held a mock Playboy party, complete with bunnies. For another fun-filled evening, the sorority held their annual Luau in the spring.

As a service project, the chapter helps support a settlement school in Gatlinburg, Tenn. Here the sorority devotes time and money to provide education, craftwork and medical help for needy people.

Unity and sisterhood go hand-in-hand with Sigma Kappa to provide a firm foundation for the scholastic and social aspects of the sorority.

The social aspect is represented by the Big Sis - Little Sis Banquet, a pledge-active annual Christmas eve-nite and a theme party.

There is a serious side to the social aspect as is depicted by the annual Cider Chug held this year on Oct. 7. The Cider Chug is a philanthropic project with the proceeds going to the Athens State Mental Hospital.

Many of us have noticed the entrance distinction between actives and pledges of a sorority — the former using the front entrance and the latter using the rear entrance. However this sorority is unique in that both actives and pledges use the rear entrance. The Sigma Kappa house is being redone and when completed will be doubled in living capacity.

J-Pram 1963 created a climatic finish for the Theta Phi Alpha's year. Sue Eckel was chosen first attendant for the Queen's Court, making the third consecutive year that a Theta Phi has received this honor.

In the fall, rush made 11 Park Place a busy household indeed. After everyone had recovered from the hectic pace of open houses, parties and teas the girls dove into preparations for the Province Convention. Held in November, Ohio University's Delta Chapter was hostess to four other chapters.

Gala festivities for the Christmas holidays followed close behind the convention. Among the annual events, the Theta Phi's sponsored an exciting day for an orphan by presenting her with gifts, a "Big Sis - Little Sis Party" with little sis' providing the entertainment in the form of skits, and the highlight — their Christmas Formal.

"Sweetie Pie of Theta Phi," a coveted honor awarded to the pinmate or fiancee who labored the most industriously for the sorority, was announced at the Sweetie Pie dinner in February.

Zeta Tau Alpha

The Zeta women began their Christmas festivities with their annual Stardust Formal, a dance preceded by invitations to their dates for dinner.

The Zeta pledges anticipate pledge-active turn-about day. At this time, the actives render their services to the pledges and go through pledge duties.

Then they all wait impatiently for spring "to sprung," for this is the season when their spring outing is held at Bailey's Lake.

The final event of each semester is the steak and bean dinner held by their 3.0 club. All ZTA's receiving a 3.0 eat steak, and those with lower grades eat beans.

Panhellenic Association is the unifying body which joins the 12 sororities on campus. This organization administers all regulations concerning sorority activities such as rush regulations, pledging and initiations. The goals of this organization are the maintenance of high scholarship, service and social standards. The association strives for co-operation and understanding between and among Greek women.

Each group is represented by their president, one representative and an alumnae advisor. Each year Panhel awards a board scholarship to a foreign woman student and together with IFC sponsors the Paul J. Schofer Scholarship award. This year Panhel's philanthropic project is assisting the Athens branch of the American Cancer Society.

At the suggestion of Panhellenic Association, presidents' meetings and scholarship chairmen's meetings have been established where programs, policies and problems are discussed. This helps create a further unifying effect among the sorority women.

The 19 active social fraternities are under the direction of the Interfraternity Council. Together, with the Panhellenic Association, IFC governs and initiates the Greek activities with due regard to executive, administrative and judicial functions.

The council is comprised of Dean Wark, advisor, an executive board and the president and one representative from each fraternity. Greek affairs are handled at bi-monthly meetings. Any accusations concerning fraternity violations are tried by a court of five members and overseen by the executive vice-president.

The annual sponsoring of Greek Week, during which IFC tries to present a clear picture of Greek life, is the high point of the council's activities. The council is also represented at the National Interfraternity Council and the Mid-American IFC - Panhel Council. The Paul J. Schofer Scholarship Fund is maintained by IFC in cooperation with Panhel. Greek Columns, the organization's newspaper, is published three times a semester.

The purpose of the council is to combine the available talents, efforts and funds of the active members to strengthen the Greek system by acting as a common meeting ground for fraternity brothers.

Acacia

The 1963 - 64 year will be recorded in Acacia's history as a year of sports triumphs. The brothers easily won the football championship in the fall, and then went on to win the tennis and badminton all-campus trophies.

The Four Preps came to the compus again at the invitation of Acocia. Judging from the singing group's tremendous first appearance success last year, great things were expected of a repeat performance. And the group did not disappoint the audience.

In the Spring, rush really got rolling at 101 University Terrace. Acocia is able to promise its rush-ees college life full of good times and fellowship. The pledges could look forward to taking part in several Acacia annual functions, such as a "Nite on the Nile" party, and some new ones—hazeless "Help Weeks," for example.

Alpha Phi Alpha

The men of Alpha Phi Alpha opened the year with their rousing party, "Bunch of Grapes Migration," held in Putnam gymnasium.

Two professors from Cleveland spoke to the chapter about job opportunities with the government. Frequent coffee forums given at the chapter house serve to enlighten the men on current topics.

In the spring, the brothers entertained their dotes at their Sweetheart Ball, given in the Center Ballroom. The Sweetheart of Alpha Phi Alpha was chosen to reign over the weekend.

Actives and pledges alike place great emphasis on scholarship through the method of financial rewards and punishments.

APhA's are not only scholars, however. Their participation in intramural sports has proved quite rewarding.

The past year was an important one for the men of Beta Theta Pi. Marked by increased emphasis on scholarship and continued interest in the pledge program, the year was one in which the Betas strived for outstanding achievement.

Fielding some championship teams from the previous year, the Betas again enjoyed participating in intramural sports.

In the fall the Betas were proud to welcome their new housemother, Mrs. Reba Maybee. Her jovial spirit and warm hospitality are enjoyed by all.

Traditional pinning serenades took place throughout the year as several of the pinmates received best wishes for future happiness.

Fall and spring rush yielded two fine pledge classes for the Betas. They are certain that their newest members will carry on the traditions of Ohio University's oldest fraternity.

Delta Tau Delta

Starting the first semester with vigor, the Delts added to their victories by winning first place for their Homecoming house decoration, "Uncommon Valor was a Common Virtue." Included in the Homecoming events was the placing of the traditional flagpole in front of the Delt house, upon which two shaven-headed members were placed holding to the motto, "No Hair Till Delaware."

Adding to their annual activities was the Delt-Sig Toilet Bowl football game. Included in the fall semester's festivities was the costume circus party and the Winter Formal when the brothers' dates stayed in the fraternity house overnight.

With the arrival of a new semester and a new season, the Delts focused their plans on a set of new events. After arrangements for a Playboy party were made, the annual Delt Regatta took place. Members entering their homemade boats started on the Hacking River near the Millview and ended at the Richland Avenue Bridge. During the evening a shipwreck party was held at the house.

Delta Upsilon

Throughout the entire year, the men of Delta Upsilon strive to fulfill four purposes set forth by their fraternity. These purposes are the diffusion of liberal culture, the promotion of friendship, the advancement of justice and the development of character.

The DU's held their annual Christmas party for local orphan children in December and recently adopted a needy family through the Salvation Army.

During the school year the chapter sponsored weekly speaker programs and encouraged attendance at cultural events by organizing discussion groups.

The men of Delta Upsilon are known throughout campus for their spring weekend, a fun-filled two days complete with parties and picnics. Last year the men's dates took over the house for one night.

The men of Lambda Chi Alpha believe in a firm Christian foundation as the basis for introduction of their members to today's society. They also hope to instill into their membership a better understanding of the Greek system, and provide an opportunity for the members to participate in campus and Greek activities.

A man whom the group feels has the potential in fulfilling the fraternity's criteria is eligible to become a brother of Lambda Chi Alpha.

The men of Lambda Chi participate in many of the campus activities. They also have several annual and special events such as their autumn hayride, Christmas caroling, Founder's Day Banquet and the Crescent Weekend.

Among the unique events the fraternity has initiated on campus are their "Apple Polishing" banquet and their "Mom-Napping" party.

Phi Delta Theta

The Phi Deltas scored another triumph this fall when their Homecoming float, "Tipacano and Delaware Too," won first place in the men's housing division.

One of the largest men's social fraternities on the Ohio campus, Phi Delta Theta combines achievements in scholastics, campus leadership and school athletics, with high fraternity spirit.

Moving from 17th place a year ago to fifth this fall in fraternity and sorority grade averages, the fraternity has proven its emphasis upon academic achievement. And winning the IFC intramural sports trophy for the second year in a row has heightened fraternity and athletic spirits for the Phi Deltas.

The fraternity has been somewhat limited socially this year due to re-decoration and the construction of a new addition to its house. The work, however, was completed early in the second semester, and the social tempo increased to include the annual Roman Orgy party, Sweetheart Formal and She-Delt Weekend.

Phi Epsilon Pi

Phi Epsilon Pi is a social fraternity located on Morris Ave. National acclaim has been earned by the fraternity for ranking first in grades in both semesters of the 1962 - 63 school year.

The house is constructed of brick and has a large porch and gracious interior. Residence for 18 of the active members are located within the house.

The Alpha Rho Chapter of the Phi Epsilon Pi Fraternity was the tenth social fraternity to be established on the Ohio University campus. The national founding date is 1904, and the local founding date is 1933. There are 49 national chapters with a total membership of over 22,000.

Herbert Brockman leads the fraternity as president and Mrs. Thor Olson is the housemother of the chapter. This group organizes the social life of their members as a contribution to their education.

Phi Kappa Sigma

With their usual enthusiasm at Homecoming, the Skulls cried, "De-Rail the Blue Hens." Their float, sporting live hens, captured second place.

The men of Phi Kappa Sigma are men of athletic prowess. Their football team took first in the inter-fraternity matches, thus adding another trophy to their showcase.

True to their "contrary" nature, the Skulls went caroling — Pumpkin Style — Halloween night. Sororities and women's dorms listened to the familiar Christmas tunes sung in a definitely new way.

The Skulls are dedicated to scholarship and fellowship, and they try to maintain a healthy balance between the two. Since the university determines the "scholastic calendar of events," the Skulls take care of their social calendar. Besides informal gatherings at the house, Phi Kappa Sigma sponsored its Black and Gold formal and its annual Christmas party.

Their long-to-be remembered "Skull Session" helped to make final exams a little easier to bear.

After winning first place in J-Prom skits with Chi Omega and having Dick Longstreth crowned 1963 J-Prom King, the Phi Taus returned to campus ready to begin another school year of parties, teas, intramurals and other activities.

The Phi Tau Homecoming float, "Ohio Has the Wrights to Win," and a Grundy Party with the SAE's at the Millview highlighted the year. In honor of the Grundy Party, the brothers wore sweat shirts and jeans as permanent attire for a week. They also gave up shaving.

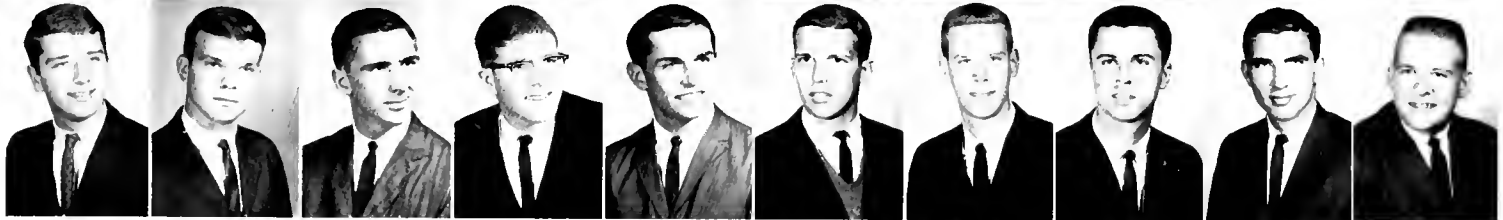

To add to the chapter's honors, juniors, Stan Board and Dave Bernhardt, were tapped into J-Club.

Since there was no J-Prom this year, the men of Phi Kappa did not have the opportunity to win another J-Prom skit trophy. However, the brothers still looked forward to defending their all-fraternity softball crown.

In addition to their numerous parties, two new social events were added to the Phi Kap social calendar. First was the "Robin Hood Party" and second was a "French Underground Fling." This year the annual Christmas formal changed into a "snowball," an all-day affair complete with snowballing in the woods in the afternoon and dancing in a warmly lighted cabin in the evening.

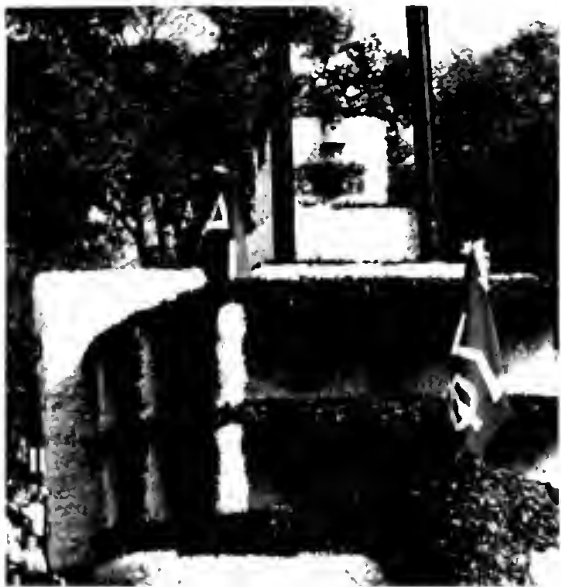

The Phi Kaps were fortunate to have their chapter room completely remodeled and also to have their house and annex extensively refurbished.

Highlighting the year was the annual Province Ball Weekend which was held in Cleveland in conjunction with six other Ohio chapters of Phi Kappa Theta.

This year, the Alpha Delta chapter of Phi Sigma Delta is celebrating the fifteenth anniversary of its founding at Ohio University. The purpose of this organization is to promote the ideals and brotherhood for which the fraternity stands. Any second-semester freshman with a 2.0 average or better is eligible for membership regardless of race, creed or color.

Special events of this year include a tea held early in the fall for freshman women and an annual "Little Twister's" Root Beer Blast to which everyone is invited. Besides participation in such campus activities as Homecoming and Greek Week, the Phi Sigs sponsor a Winter Weekend with a turn-about party, an annual Spring Weekend and formal, and many theme parties.

Next year the fraternity plans to provide board and room for a Danish student sponsored by the Phi Sigma Delta Notional Fraternity. They hope that this will become a regular project.

It's the PiKA's again with their one and only fire truck. An asset to every event on campus, the fire engine leads the men on their way to another great year.

Taking part in each function on campus, both civic and social, their calendar is filled right down to the minute. The gay festivities of the Christmas season are enjoyed by all at their traditional Christmas formal. Spring brings even busier weeks with their Founder's Day program, Dream Girl and their aid with the Athen's heart fund drive.

But the spring and summer months do not terminate the work of the men of PiKA. Planning for the coming fall with homecoming and an all-campus hoootenanny keep their time more than occupied.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

Eleven years on Ohio University's campus has made the Gamma chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon a unique fraternity. From their famous lions to one particularly notorious member (Dolph, the most sought-after SAE on campus), the SAE's have attempted to mold their fraternity into one that emphasizes leadership, scholarship and social development.

Wednesday night dinners with members of the faculty, an annual scholarship banquet featuring steak or beans and singing in the Tavern after meetings are traditional. Other traditions include Saedee Hawkins Day and Spring Weekend, a pledge Christmas party for the youngsters from the Children's Home and their original approach to St. Patty's weekend, Brother in the Booth.

This year, the SAE's took a third-place Homecoming trophy, created a new tradition (a week of competition with the Phi Tau's to produce the grundiest Greeks) and entertained members from Bowling Green, Ohio State, Dennison and Miami chapters.

Sigma Chi

Sigma Chi, founded over a hundred years ago, provides a brotherhood where their members are given an opportunity to grow morally, academically and socially. Ohio University's Delta Pi chapter considers these goals in planning their activities.

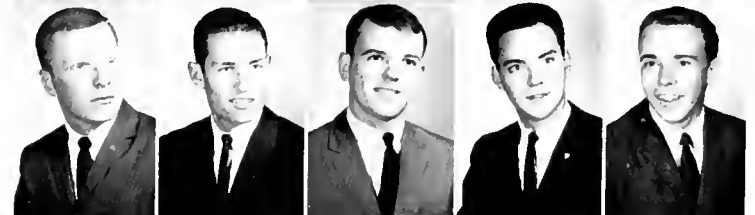

This year the fraternity staged a successful "Help Week" which was devoted to community service. The pledges worked harder than ever in performing worthwhile services to the community. A future city park site for Athens was cleaned up, the island on Park Place was weeded and made to look presentable and a United States jet fighter was given a thorough polishing.

During the first semester, the chapter had a hectic time while they vacated their house for remodeling. Sigs were scattered from West Green #2 to Montrose Avenue. However, the inconvenience proved worthwhile when the Sigs moved back into their remodeled house at the beginning of the second semester.

The men of Sigma Nu were kept busy this fall what with building their Homecoming float, "Monitor a Victory," entertaining their fathers on Dad's Weekend and celebrating their 12th anniversary. The latter commemorated the installation of Sigma Nu on the Ohio University Campus in 1951.

Alumni Day, a November event, was coupled with plans for the formation of an Athens Alumni Chapter.

Keeping with the Christmas spirit, the men of North Congress St. held a party at the chapter house complete with decorations and the exchange of gifts.

The Tau Gam year began on a high note as the brothers came back to a newly redecorated house. With repainted walls, new carpeting in the living rooms and new furniture to inspire them, the brothers began their social, academic and athletic season with renewed enthusiasm.

Highlighting their social activities was their annual Founder's Day formal and banquet. Alumni from various parts of the country came for the gala event. A sweetheart of Tau Gamma Delta was chosen to reign over the activities.

A Christmas party, theme parties and informal get-togethers were other activities interspersed throughout the year.

As finals brought the year to a close, the brothers even found time to schedule in some study time.

The men of Tau Kappa Epsilon began the year with their participation in Homecoming, entering the float "Crash of '29."

The Teke's are blessed with a widely acclaimed quartet, specializing in folk songs. They entertained their brothers and dates at a Hillbilly Hootenanny party.

During the holidays, the fraternity sponsored, with Alpha Xi Delta sorority, a Christmas party for underprivileged children.

In the spring, the men were busy with their sixteenth annual Tekequacades, a swim meet in which all women's housing units and sororities compete.

The chapter rounded out the year with a spring weekend, including a formal dance and an outing the following day.

All these events made this year another success for the men of Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Theta Chi

Social events crowded the 1963 - 64 calendar for the men of Theta Chi Fraternity. Their annual all-campus Mardi Gras was enjoyed by everyone as they started the new school year with enthusiasm. Their house and yard typified the gaiety of any street in New Orleans with the lively background music.

This gaiety continued as the men crowned the girl of their dreams at the annual Dream Girl Formal. Homecoming and Father's Weekend added to the spirit of the men as their float featured "Pen the Hens," and the fathers witnessed the traditional tug-of-war in their back yard.

The sack party, the Fort Lauderdale party, featuring its back-breaking limbo contest, and the annual Ox Roast can be looked upon as contributing to another great year for the men of Theta Chi.

Football

It was a long trek from the first few experience-lacking games at the start of the season to the Mid-American Conference crown a few months later. This lack of experience early in the year can be attributed to playing ball individually and not as a team.

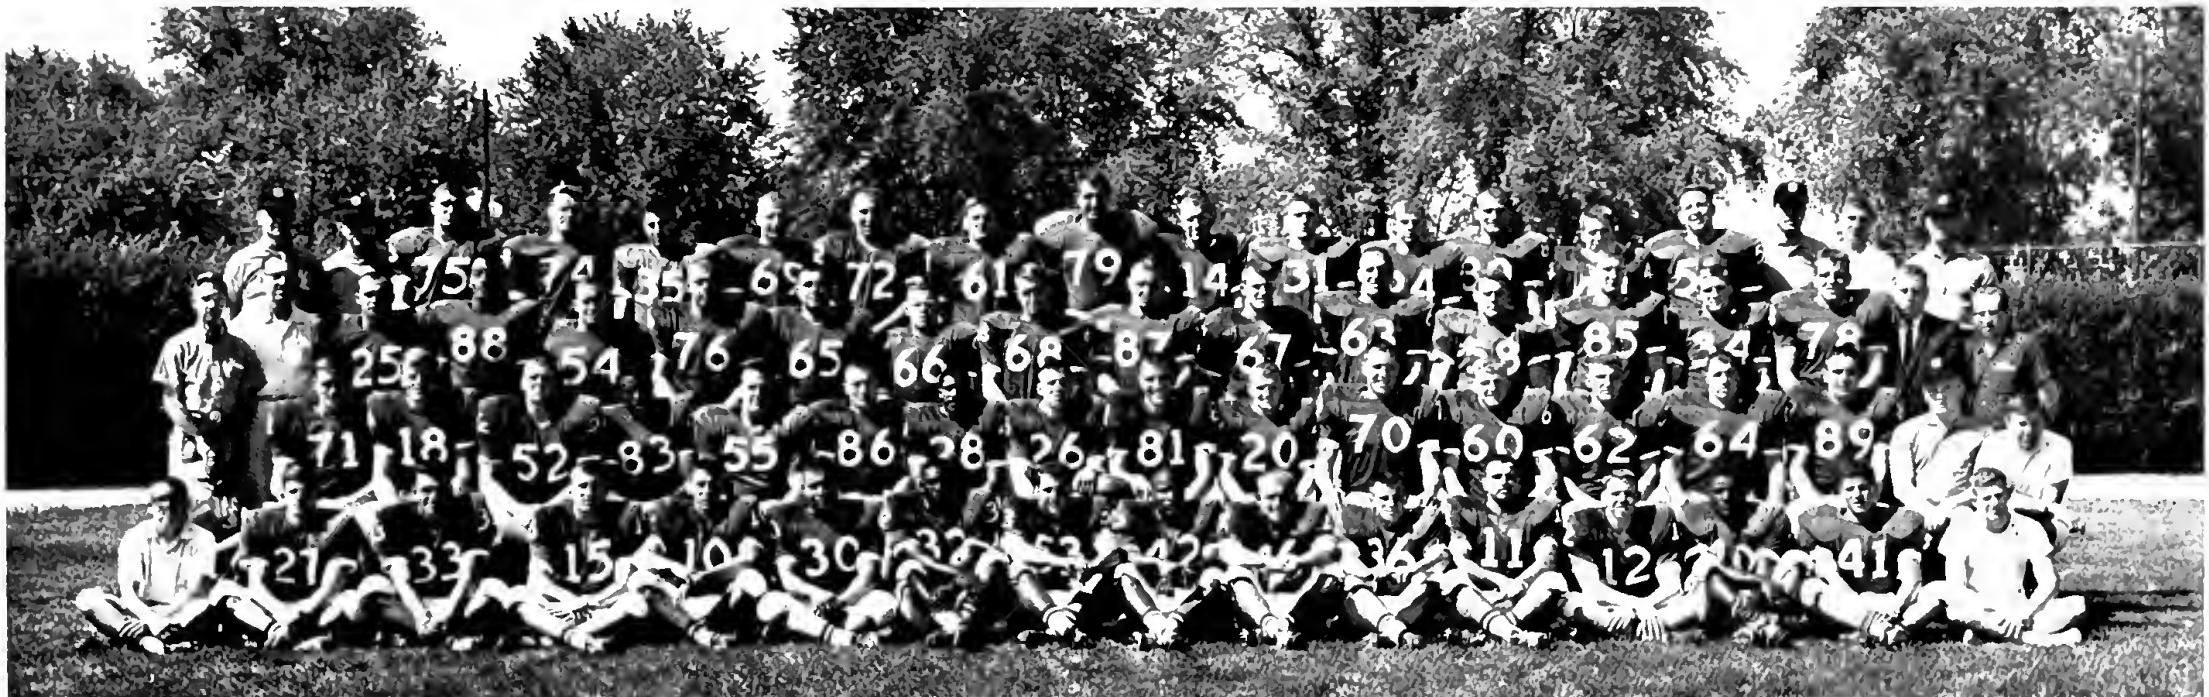

It was not until the Xavier walloping that the Bobcats took stock of themselves and began to click. They reached their peak with Bowling Green and from there finished the season in grand style, rounding out the record at six-and-four.

Limelighters Jim Albert (halfback), Jack Hite (fullback), Ron Curtis (halfback), Dave Hutter (end), and Skip Hoovler (center) mixed skills to corner the MAC market.

Although the squad lost four off the first team (two being Dave Hutter and famous Jim Albert who signed pro, and who broke the conference record for most yards gained in one season), Coach Bob Hess will head an even better team for next fall because of talented new material and returning veteran gridmen.

Soccer

Cooch John McComb's soccer team hardnosed its way through another tough season with a 5-5 record. Dove Coffey, a junior fullback, honored O.U. by being its lone representative on the 1963 All-Ohio soccer team. John Haynes, center-forward from London, England, earned mention on the second team, while junior lineman Gideon Kolo received honorable mention.

Ohio hopes for even greater soccer fame come next fall and the efforts of the above able returnees could very well bring home a championship.

Basketball

The "experts" kept waiting for the bubble to burst. It finally did, but not before Ohio University won its third Mid-American Conference basketball crown in five years and battled farther in the NCAA tournament than any MAC quintet in the past.

Coch Jim Snyder, who masterminded Ohio to a 10-2 conference record and an outstanding 21-6 overall mark, called his 1963-64 cagers "a gutty crew." They had to be gutty, as well as talented, to win the MAC title by defeating strong, but erratic Toledo, the pre-season choice, in an overtime thriller.

It took this gutty crew to upset Louisville in overtime and to whip fourth-ranked Kentucky, 85-69, in NCAA action before finally bowing to tall, talented Michigan, 69-57, in the Midwest Regional title game.

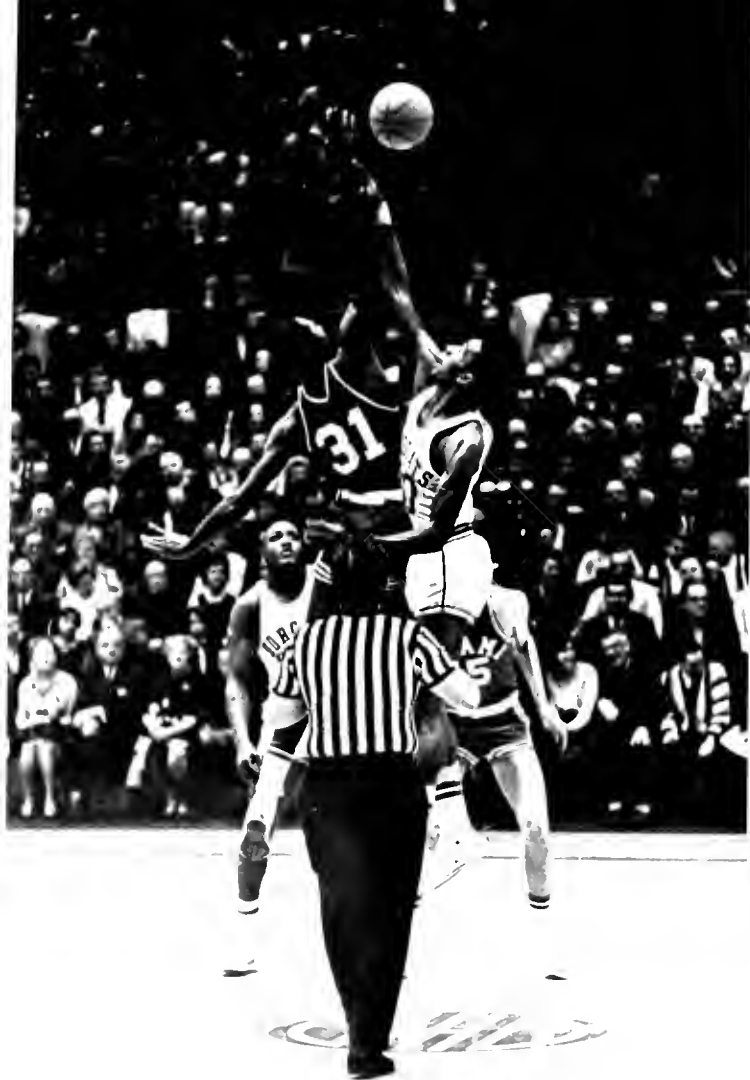

The only ingredient the Babcats lacked was height. They overcame this disadvantage by playing as a team while taller opponents fell apart as individuals.

Forwards Don Hilt and Mike Haley, center Paul Storey and guards Jerry Jackson and Charley Gill executed Ohio victories this season. The tallest starter was 6-5 Storey, but many opponents, including Kentucky basketball baron Adolph Rupp, claimed, "that Hilt and Haley (both 6-4) must be at least 6-7 each."

The Bobcats had no heavy scorer. Only Gill among the starters averaged less than 10 points per game, but his field leadership and ball-hawking made him as valuable as a 20-point scorer. Jackson, finishing his career as the highest scorer in Bobcat history with 1204 points, thrilled crowds with twisting lay-ups and deadly jump shots.

Storey displayed an uncanny knack for making seemingly impossible shots. Hilt and Haley, who return as seniors next season, consistently controlled the backboards against taller foes, adding their share of points on tip-ins and jump shots.

And the Bobcats always had a sixth man on the court. He proved more valuable than an All-American. This year Jim Snyder finally earned the national recognition that a coach of his outstanding ability merits.

Tennis

The tennis team of last year faced a twelve-match schedule (5-7) and placed sixth in the Mid-American Conference. This year's team, however, faces sixteen meets, being led by Coach Carrall Widdoes who is in his first year of coaching tennis.

Coach Widdoes, former head football coach and athletic director, has Ken Hiatt as captain of the tennis unit.

Hiatt and Ted Martin (number one in singles) will be headlining the team at the Mid-American Conference championship matches at Oxford in late May.

Golf

Coach Kermit Blosser is looking forward to a season as successful as the 15-2 type that he fostered last year.

There should be no feeling of being spoiled over last spring's MAC win, because the current golf team promises some talent that should pay off as the season progresses.

Two talents to be especially mindful of are Gary Goecke, a sophomore with a sound swing, and Bob Littler, Jr., a junior who in the past has qualified three times for the National Amateur.

Cross Country

The cross country season closed with an 8-1 record in dual meets, the only loss was to Miami. The Warriors hustled up impressive recognition with the following: second in MAC, tied for sixth in NCAA, third place in the Central Collegiate Championships, tied for first in the All-Ohio Collegiate and took first in the Wabash College Invitational.

Coach Stan Huntsman has a powerful team of runners with sophomore Elmore Banton and junior Bill Heller as lieutenants.

Banton is Ohio's fastest runner with a new mark of 19:25 time over the four mile CCC course, while Heller sports an All American rating.

Track

The outlook in track this year shows strength in running events, but some weakness in field events, according to track coach Stan Huntsman. The strength in the running events is due to the fact that all but two of last year's squad are returning.

The ones to watch are Barry Sugden (half-miler), Bill Heller (the miler), Mel Orr (100-yard dash), and Jim Zettlemeyer (440-intermediate hurdles). Sugden, Heller and Orr are U. S. Olympic Team prospects.

The field events are represented by two able men, Bill Taraschke, former MAC discus champ, and Jim Murray, pole vault record-holder at Ohio.

Last year the team came through second in the MAC, and Coach Huntsman expects similar fame this year with the assistance from sophomore sparkler Elmore Banton in the one, two and three mile events.

Baseball

Based on a 17-8 record from last year, the Bobcats' baseball coach, Bob Wren, faces a new season with the loss of seven of his starters.

Wren, being the coach that he is, leaves little doubt that he will lead the season's potentials to a similar standing like last year's second place in the MAC.

As for the lineup itself there can be nothing definite in either strong or weak trends until after the seasonal shift, but one thing is sure—the Bobcats will give Western Michigan some rough innings to dispel W.M.'s reputation as an annual power.

Hockey

At present the hockey team is not officially considered a varsity sport and is currently affiliated with campus athletic clubs. There are hopes for varsity recognition by next year, however.

Highlighted by the skills of Morris L'Heureux, Dick Homovec and Ken Arvidson, the O.U. ice pack clambered through a schedule of six wins, thirteen losses.

The sport is a rough one and promises to draw even larger crowds next fall as team experience increases.

Wrestling

The Ohio University wrestling scene has once again been very lively and extremely productive. Every dual meet but the last one with Miami was won, which is no small achievement.

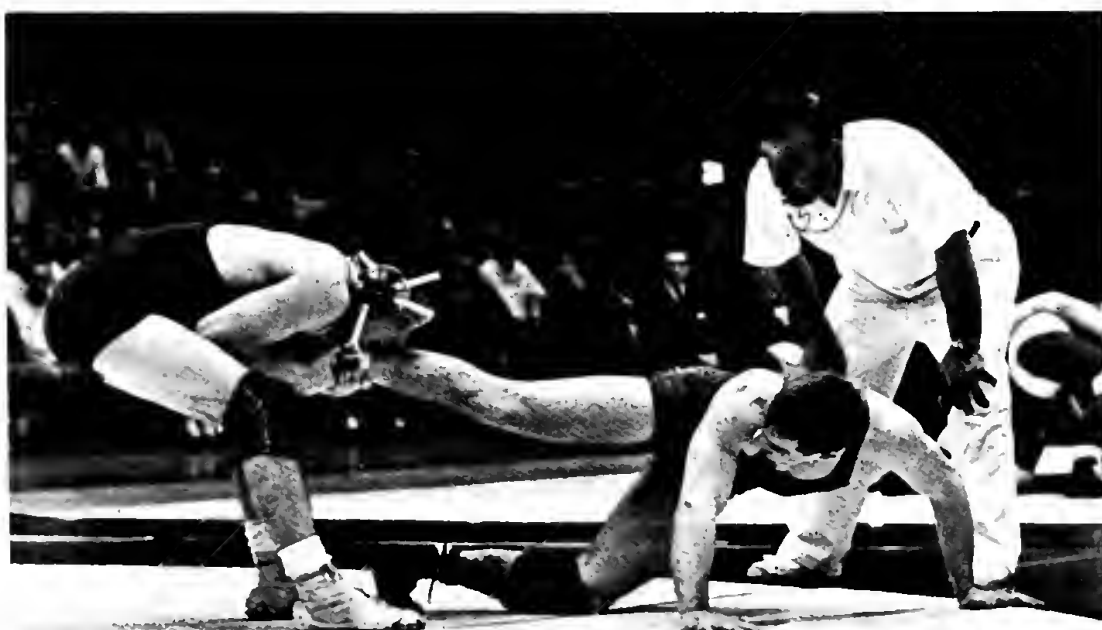

The grapplers also won the Hiram College Tourney, the Ohio Quadrangular Tourney and the Wilkes Open.

The outstanding wrestlers are Harry Houska (Mid-American Conference champ at 167 lbs.), Chuck Ronyetz and Norm Rivers, both holding championship ratings.

Houska, a junior noted for his quick pins, has torn literally all opponents apart and is currently stalking a spot on the 1964 Olympic Team.

Swimming

The tank schedule this year ended with a 4-5 record in dual meets plus a second-place showing in the MAC Relays.

The MAC Championships will see O.U. competing with Western Michigan and Miami, the other two top MAC teams. Our strength, according to coach Fletcher Gilders, lies in the diving events with former MAC champ Jim Potterson a strong contender.

Riflery

Headed by female captain Lynn Grayson, this year's riflery team has successfully fulfilled a 12-match season, running from October through April, gaining recognition in the Southern Ohio Intercollegiate Rifle League.

There are six members under Captain Grayson who participate in an average of two matches per month. Most of these are "postal matches," in which scores are matched through the mail.

The O.U. riflery team competes in league tournaments and for individual honors and annually seek victory over Cincinnati, the league's big gun for several years running.

Varsity O

Varsity "O" is an honorary organization for athletes in all sports at Ohio University. Any man earning a varsity letter is eligible to join. Every member must go through a short pledge period in which the member wears a turban around campus.

Activities during the year were a spring picnic at Hockingsport including water skiing, a party for orphans and various parties and teas.

Sink or swim? To swim has been the decision of these graceful beauties that comprise the Dolphin Club.

These girls, under the direction of Miss Jonet Moldenhauer, exhibit their skill during the interdorm swim meet for girls and during Father's and Mother's Weekend.

Although one needs to be able to do more than just stay above water, any undergraduate woman can join if she can pass a Dolphin preliminary test and receive a majority vote of all members.

More than just swimming, these girls serve to promote cooperation and sponsor campus wide interest and activity in swimming and diving.

ORCHESIS Row 1. K. Middleton, C. Simpson, R. Pristash, S. Rhoades, M. Orehovec, B. Kirkpatrick, Pres.

Orchesis

Black leotards and bare feet make up the uniform of the members of Orchesis, a group devoted to the improvement of dance technique and to the exploration and performance of creative contemporary dance. The club is open to all students at Ohio University.

Members of Orchesis audition to join either the Dance Circle or the more advanced Dance Makers group. Each spring Orchesis members join together to present a concert of dance for the student body.

Finnettes

Serving as a junior organization to the Dolphin Club, the Finnettes meet once a week to learn stunts and skills which are taught by Dolphin Club members. Once a Finette has become especially proficient in all there is to know about swimming and diving, she is given a chance to audition for membership in the Dolphin Club. The Finnettes participate in the annual Mothers' Weekend Swim Show.

Flying Bobcats

FLYING BOBCATS Left to Right D. Weakley, J. Kivan, T. Shylo, R. Chasman, T. Becker, N. Hirmann, N. Helser, M. Hoffman, B. Berens, P. Matchett, A. Stewart, B. Lea, C. Grimm, R. Sander, B. Brooks, C. Graham, C. Jacobs, R. Ziegler, C. Chesser, Adviser, S. Alcock, J. Jenkins, Pres., M. Dienes, B. Martin, D. Hoover, C. Simpson.

They can't keep both feet on the ground! They're members of Ohio University's Flying Bobcats, and even the non-pilots spend much of their time in the air. A flying member, being a registered pilot, not only navigates the club's '46 Aeronca Champion, but owns a share in it. A non-flying member is always welcome to ride along. All it takes is a desire and an interest in flying to become a member.

The Flying Bobcats like testing their skills by competing in airmeets. Last year, they competed against similar college groups on a nation-wide basis and took first place in the National Intercollegiate Flying Association meet. Since 1961, the group has placed first in the Ohio association competitions. Besides the accuracy landing events for the pilots, the meets offer bomb (bags of lime) dropping contest for the non-flyer.

To finance their activities, the flyers sponsor an annual Penny-A-Pound Day, where each passenger rides for what he weighs. To entertain parents and friends of the group, they also sponsor the Fly-In. Members demonstrate such things as parachute-jumping, and flying-parents are given a hand at the throttle.

Sailing Club

The Ohio University Sailing Club is a rather new organization on campus, however in the short time in which it has been here the members can claim several accomplishments. They have bought three Jet-14 sail boats, and through their efforts they have become members of the Midwest Collegiate Sailing Association.

During the spring and fall the sailing club travels to various campuses in Ohio to participate in inter-collegiate regattas where they have achieved an excellent record.

Sailing Club members enjoy sailing as much as possible. On weekends and some afternoons during the week they go to Burr Oak Lake which is about 30 minutes from the campus. Here they have their own regattas and enjoy picnic dinners.

Each fall and spring the sailing club sponsors a large membership drive. With an increased number, the members are hoping to eventually be able to finance an entire fleet of Jet-14s. At present there are about 60 members.

Judo Club

One of the more active clubs on campus is the Ohio University Judo Club. The organization is active in its goal to stimulate the sport of judo on the campus and in the surrounding regions. The non-profit organization works in conjunction with all amateur Kodokan Jukaka in the regional and national championships.

The club sponsors two judo tournaments each year. With the profits gained from the tournaments, the members obtain more equipment for the recreation of the club members.

The month of May sees the Judo Club in its finest form when the main annual tournament is held. An average of 125 Judokas of all the various ranks from the clubs in a five state area meet to decide the champions of the various regions.

Intramurals

If you have an interest in a sport, chances are intramural director Jack Rhodes can put you on a team. The record for the year always bears the some number of victories or defeats, because the games are all played within the university.

A co-recreation program between intramurals and WRA puts the battle of the sexes into athletics.

Mr. Rhodes hopes to encourage an annual Mid-American Extramural Festival. Intramural activities this year consisted of two volleyball teams to Capitol and hosting Kent State's squad.

Participation is increasing as registration increases. Enough interest has been shown this year to rejuvenate archery which had been suspended for lack of interest.

The objective of intramurals is to offer an opportunity for every student to participate in skills which he has previously learned. And think of the dates you could get in that co-rec program!

Rifle Club

To promote rifle marksmanship and to preserve the right to bear arms is the purpose of Ohio University's Rifle Club. Membership is open to both men and women. To receive instruction the members hold regular meetings. Members are entitled to the use of club shooting equipment as well as the use of the rifle range.

The varsity rifle team which represents Ohio University in the Southeastern Ohio Intercollegiate Rifle League is composed of male members of the Rifle Club. The women sharpshooters also form a team which competes in matches with other women's teams across the country.

"It matters not if you win or lose but how you play the game," is the motto of the Women's Recreation Association, a unique club to which every Ohio University coed is automatically a member.

To emphasize campus-wide participation, WRA sponsors interdamitory, intersorority and intercollegiate athletics in a wide variety of sports areas.

Major undertakings this year were a fall orientation open house, the inter-dorm swim meet and a spring playday for high schools and colleges.

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

The photograph is of a cover of The Ohio Alumnus magazine.

When you automatically become a member of the alumni association after you leave the campus, The Ohio Alumnus will serve as a continuous contact between you and the University.

May it always be a reminder of a significant part of your life as well as a constant source of encouragement for you to maintain an active relationship with Ohio University.

Your participation in club activities and your support of alumni programs will strengthen the Association as it fulfills its signal purpose—service to a great and growing University.

On behalf of the officers and directors of the Alumni Association, I extend to you warmest best wishes.

Sincerely yours,
 William H. Fenzel, '18

By dividing the Athena into two books, we have attempted to picture the student as an individual and as a group. Book I centers on the personal life. As we see it, regulated activities and events form only the setting in which the student plays, studies, and loves.

Book II records the student as a participant. The emphasis is on his controlled, fixed group-life.

Instrumental in making this yearbook what it is—far better or for worse—were Mr. A. T. Turnbull, Mr. Clarence White, and Mr. John Baldwin, the advisers; Dean Margaret Deppen of Campus Affairs Committee; and Mr. Len Wolowicz and Mr. D. K. Hockenberry of Consolidated Graphic Arts Corp.

We acknowledge the special cooperation of Dean William Butler, Mr. Robert Mahn, Mr. John Milar, and Mr. Jim Killeen for implementing the IBM sales policy.

A special word of appreciation goes to Mrs. Janice Bixler who endured both photographers and the production of another Athena.
